Navy Joins Opposition to Prohibition

KNOX AGREES WITH ARMY ON DRY 'RIDER'

Secretary Says Amendment Would Force Military To Impose Law.

CALLS IT DESTRUCTIVE

Sen. Lee Expected To Press For Adoption Along With 18-19 Draft Measure.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Chairman David I. Walsh (D., Mass.) of the senate naval affairs committee, said today after a telephone conversation with Secretary of Navy Frank Knox that the navy shares the army's opposition to the Lee prohibition amendment to the pending bill, to lower the draft age to 18

Walsh revealed the navy's position as the senate opened debate on the draft bill Interest was centered chiefly on the proposal of Sen. Josh Lee (D Okla.) to prohibit sale of alcoholic beverages at all army and navy posts and in their vicinities, and to suppress vice.

"I talked to the secretary of the navy this morning and asked his position," Walsh said. "He stated that the navy was in full accord with the views of the secretary of war."

Walsh said he expected to receive a letter from Knox during the day.

Although there were reports of an impending effort to postpone the prohibition fight by agreeing to future consideration of a separate bill, Senate Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky said he knew nothing of such a move.

"I expect nature will take its course," he said.

Barkley's comment indicated he expected Lee to press for adoption of his amendment despite the announced opposition of both Knox and Secretary of War Henry L Stimson

The latter charged the ban would interfere with the army's "effective methods of attaining temperance" and would impose

War Won't Wait On Holidays, and Neither Will Army

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary Stimson said today the army could not let Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays interfere with training and induction schedules.

Men will not be ordered to recruiting and induction stations for examination and induction on Thanksgiving day, Nov. 26, or on Christmas eve or Christmas day.

Except for those three days, however, the holidays will not be permitted to delay training or induction, Stimson said, and the normal practice of granting holiday furloughs during the period between Thanksgiving and New Year's day "will necessarily be restrictive."

Stimson said men already inducted but at home on a 14-day furlough to settle personal affairs would be pemitted to extend the furlough by one or two days, if that was necessary to permit them to spend Thanksgiving or Christmas with their families.

Little Plants, War Agencies Reach Accord

Nelson Reports Smaller Firms to Be Used More Effectively Now.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— New and deeper curtailment in civilian goods production was forecast today by Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the war production board in disclosing a program of scheduling essential civilian items exactly as military weapons are scheduled, sloughing off all but the truly necessary civilian commodities.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — A full "understanding" between the armed services and the Smaller War Plants corporation, designed to promote the effectiveness of the latter, was disclosed today in WPB Chairman Donald M Nelson's bi-monthly report to congress

Reluctance of the army and navy to deal with small manufacturing enterprises, reportedly has blocked successful action by the $150,000,000 SWPC since its creation by congress four months ago. The agency reportedly has paid out only $20,000 of its large fund.

In his second report on the SWPC, Nelson said that Lou Holland, director of the agency, has been proceeding "with the firm belief that more progress can be made if a full understanding and acceptance of objectives can be reached with the several procurement agencies"

"Such an understanding has now been secured with each of the important departments and agencies," he said

In view of the past conflict, however, informed sources adopted a wait and see attitude on the "understanding."

Rep Patman, (D) Tex., chairman of the house small business committee, declared he was "not pleased" with the progress of the SWPC, but added that "I am not ready to condemn it yet"

In his report on operations of the agency, however, Nelson forecast a "double-barreled attack" on the problem of bringing small business into the war

Ace Fliers Assert U. S. Will Hold Guadalcanal

Describe Gruelling Land, Air Fights As Japs Try to Recapture Vital Solomon Islands Base.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Two of America's ace fighter pilots and a leader of a veteran dive-bomber squadron have returned to Pearl Harbor from the Solomon islands Richard Tregaskis, International News Service correspondent, who accompanied a task force to the Solomons, tells in the following dispatch the part played by these Americans.)

By RICHARD TREGASKIS
(INS Staff Correspondent)

PEARL HARBOR—(INS)—Three pilots of the United States Marine corps declared today as they prepared to leave for their homes for a much needed rest after a gruelling campaign in the Solomon Islands that "our forces will hold Guadalcanal."

Two of them, Major John L. Smith, of Lexington, Okla., and Captain Marion E Carl, of Hubbard, Ore., are fighter aces with long strings of destroyed Japanese planes to their credit. The third is Lieut. Col. Richard C Mangrum, of Seattle, Wash., leader of the first dive-bomber group to reach Guadalcanal island when the United States offensive was opened against the Japs in the South Pacific.

It was Mangrum's squadron which sank an enemy cruiser and a destroyer and damaged three more Japanese ships during 10 weeks of battling at Guadalcanal

Major Smith bagged 19 Japanese planes as his contribution to the assault on the Solomons. Captain Carl shot down 16

Lieut Col Mangrum was the last of the three to leave Guadalcanal He set out for the return to Pearl Harbor on Oct 14, at a time when things began to warm up again as a result of Japanese counter-assaults

"We must have land, air and sea forces in cooperation to hold any position," Mangrum said, pointedly emphasizing the conjunction "and."

Major Smith said that the

GETS 3 YEARS

Mansfield Registrant Sent To Pen on Draft Law Charge.

Harry Murphy, 34, registrant of Richland county selective service Board 2, had been sentenced today to three years in a federal penitentiary for failure to report his change of address to the board.

He pleaded guilty to the charge in federal court in Cleveland and was sentenced by Judge E B Freed, according to a message received by Board 2

Murphy, a transient, is believed the first Richland county registrant to be sentenced for failing to keep in contact with his board.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation was asked to find Murphy in April, 1941, but located him only a few weeks ago. Bryan Styert, clerk of Board 2 was in Cleveland recently for the grand jury hearing of Murphy's case.

NEW DATA ON COUNTY'S 3-A MEN SOUGHT

Boards Re-Question Them as State Gives New Ruling on Working Wives.

CHECK ON DEPENDENCIES

State Order Bans Deferments If Employed Wives Give Up Their Positions.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The war manpower commission, it was disclosed today, has decided to issue directives to local draft boards recommending deferment of some dairy, poultry and livestock farm workers.

Richland county selective service boards prepared today to mail supplemental questionnaires to men in the 3-A classification and Col. C. W. Goble, head of the state draft set-up, announced in Columbus that working wives can no longer obtain deferment for their husbands by quitting their jobs.

Preparing to re-check 3-A men with a view to calling those whose dependency status may have changed since their first classification and placing others in the 3-B group, Boards 1 and 3 today were ready to start mailing the supplemental blanks. Board 2 has already mailed a few of them.

The supplemental blanks, which must be notarized, seek information about changes in dependency, registrant's earnings, whether the wife is working, and how much she earns.

Board clerks said the blanks would be sent first to men who registered Oct. 16, 1940, since the status of a number of them has changed. Some may have had children since then while others may have been separated from their wives are working, Col. Goble said in instructions to the county draft boards

Clerks pointed out that men with dependents and working at civilian jobs essential to the war effort will be re-classified as 3-B and will be called after all 1-A's and available 3-A's have been inducted.

The ruling on working wives also applies to childless wives of registrants who refuse to take jobs because they are afraid their husbands will be called if they do, Col Goble said.

With all boards' backlogs of

Storms Sweep Over Steppes Toward Volga

Russians Recapture Buildings Within Industrial Area of Stalingrad, Slay 200 Nazis In Trench Raid Northwest of City.

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW—Snow swirled across the steppes of the Don-Volga corridor today as the Russians announced recapture of several buildings within the industrial area of northern Stalingrad and a major trench raid northwest of the city in which more than 200 Germans were slain.

Winter was starting to grip Russia's greatest battlefield of 1942. The steppes were converted into muddy bogs.

A Pravda dispatch reported an abrupt shift in the weather, with dry warmth suddenly succeeded by rain, a cold wave and the first snowfall of the season.

Whether the snow had reached Stalingrad was not apparent, but a Red Star dispatch said rains and high winds—apparently forerunners of the steppes storm—hampered enemy movements there.

Russian seizure of the initiative in the northern suburbs was reported to have come at a time when the Nazi offensive was slackening to attacks in restricted sectors.

Izvestia said a Russian counter-attack outside Stalingrad had driven the Germans from an important hill overlooking the city. Another height was declared captured through a Red army flanking maneuver which overran two Nazi defense lines.

The noon communique announced that Soviet troops had broken into German entrenchments northwest of the city and had slain more than 200 Germans in hand-to-hand fighting.

Pravda said the Germans still held numerical superiority, sometimes putting twice as many men as the Russians into action

Moreover, the Soviet information bureau announced that eight Axis vessels, including a Rumanian destroyer and a 13,000-ton German transport, had been sunk in the continuing war at sea.

Both the destroyer and the transport and three auxiliaries were declared sent to the bottom of the Black Sea by Red fleet warships The others went down in the Gulf of Finland, a communique said

A communique reported a Nazi infantry company was wiped out northwest of Stalingrad; that 500

TOKYO RAIDERS CAPTURED, HINT

Stimson Says Some American Airmen May Have Been Seized in China.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Secretary of War Stimson today said there is a possibility that some of the American airmen who participated in the raid on Tokyo on April 18 may have been captured by the Japanese in Chinese territory.

Stimson made this comment in response to a question on recent Japanese propaganda broadcasts that captured American flyers would be punished

The secretary denied flatly Tokyo's charges that American fliers concentrated on non-military objectives including schools and hospitals.

"Our fliers who bombed Tokyo were instructed to bomb only military objectives, and they reported they did so, and with remarkable accuracy," Stimson said.

The secretary added that he was "loath to believe" that Japan would violate the convention of Geneva regulations covering the humane treatment of military prisoners.

"No American planes were shot down by the Japanese over Japan," Stimson added. "I understand that some planes encountered bad weather and were thrown off their course One landed in Siberia and

King OK's Draft Of 18-Year-Olds In Great Britain

LONDON —(AP)— King George, in the presence of South African Prime Minister Jan C Smuts and Ernest Bevin, minister of labor and national service, signed a proclamation at Buckingham palace today making 18-year-old youths eligible for military service.

Bevin, disclosing the action in the house of commons, emphasized that the young class would not be required to serve abroad.

"We propose to register Nov. 7 those who have reached the age of 18 between July 1 and Sept. 30, inclusive," he said. "They will be medically examined later in the month and called up as required.

"Many of them may expect to join the services in December."

Bevin, hinting at offensive action, said the need for the 18-year-olds was urgent.

PETAIN SAYS NO

Refuses to Ask French To Work In Nazi War Plants.

ON THE FRENCH FRONTIER —(AP)—Marshal Henri Philippe Petain was reported today to have refused to broadcast a plea to French workers to go to Germany's war factories, and unrest against the attempted mobilization was said to have tied up many French railroad operations.

Reports from within France said that every effort was made to presuade Petain to appeal to French workers to accept employment in Nazi war factories. However, Petain was said to have refused although a speech for his delivery by radio had been drafted and placed before him.

Workers were reported to have won the support of a number of big French industrialists in their defiance of the appeals of chief of government Pierre Laval to go to Germany

ARMY ORDNANCE PROGRAM SAVES VALUABLE TIME

Substitute Plastics For Aluminum In One of Many Innovations.

(By United Press)

ATLANTA, Ga. — Important discoveries—some "too vital to talk about" — have been made since Uncle Sam started using substitutes for critical materials in army supplies, officials of the Fourth Service Command revealed.

For instance, the Ordnance Department is now using plastics for aluminum in trench mortar fuses. Efficiency experts say that this will release 35,000,000 pounds of aluminum for other uses by the end of 1943.

Of more significance, they reported, is the fact that plastic fuses can be moulded and require little or no machining, thus releasing valuable machine tools for other war duties.

Under the army conservation program every item which contains critical metal is studied for possible replacement with substitutes. If practicable, the substitute then is demanded in manufacturing specifications.

This conservation plan, army leaders believe, will save more than 62,000,000 pounds of tin and aluminum by the end of 1943.

Redesign plays an important part in the conservation effort according to the experts. It already has materially reduced the amount of tin used in packing boxes for ammunition.

Chromium steel liners are now used in place of tinned copper in smokeless powder boxes. Tin used in the solder for signal flares has been reduced 20 per cent without reducing their effectiveness.

Substitutes for aluminum in ordnance manufacture are now used in everything from small screws to large assemblies. It's all a part of the great American goal to bring the Axis to their knees.

FIVE TEETERS IN SERVICE

PORTLAND, Ore.—(U.P.)—Three more Teeters have signed up to make the Axis totter. They are William, Ray and Orville Teeter, who joined the navy here recently. Arville, 43, is a veteran of World War I and has two sons, Orville, jr., and Larry, already in the navy.

Change Name of J---Tree to Save It From Patriots

TYLER, Tex.—(U.P.)— Regardless of Uncle Sam's war with J———, homeland of the tree's ancestors, the little J——— mimosa tree on the Smith county courthouse lawn is in full bloom.

Patriotic Tyler folk no longer call the little tree a J——— mimosa, however. They call it an Oriental mimosa, contending that trees like it are found elsewhere in the Orient as well as in J———.

Doughty old Richard Hubbard, Tyler native who once served as ambassador to J———, brought the tree's parent plant to Tyler many years ago from T———, capital city of J———.

Bill Shamburger, keeper of the courthouse lawn, said the name had to be changed to guard it against the ax of any one of many Tyler patriots.

LAST STORY OF SCRIBE VISIONS SOLDIERS' PEACE

Darnton Found Men Who Fight Now Want America Always To Be Well Armed.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—War Correspondent Byron Darnton of the New York Times, who was killed accidentally "in an advanced operational area in New Guinea," paid tribute to the fighting forces and "what they are fighting for" in his last dispatch.

Darnton's by-lined story in the Times carried the dateline "Somewhere in New Guinea (Delayed), Oct. 7." He wrote as a soldier who served in France during the last war, comparing "news coverage" then, and in the present war:

"Transport can be roughly defined as a ride (for correspondents). Men who wrote the news of the last war * * * have told me that GHQ placed a limousine at the disposal of each correspondent. That is no longer being done. Here in the Port Moresby area, for instance, we have two pick-up trucks for about 20 Australian and American correspondents and photographers.

"You get your best rides from bomber pilots whom you know. They and their crews seem to like to have you along. You provide a new element in what have come to be boring, uneventful trips to the most forward base, and you take part in many enjoyable conversations shouted over the roar of the engines.

"And the correspondent of this war, unlike his predecessor of 25 years ago, can find manifold evidence that the victory will be well used.

"Young men who are doing our fighting are, to a surprising extent, thinking about the war—not only in terms of getting back home to their wives and sweethearts and getting away from danger and discomfort—they are thinking also in terms of what kind of world we shall have after peace comes.

"They are thinking realistically. Above all, they want the United States to be kept strong on land and sea.

"The politician who preaches 'normalcy' at the end of this war will find some hard-headed opposition. He will find these men assured and matured above their years. He will find that they have fully learned the lesson that two wars in 25 years have taught.

"He will find that they want, not national escape to irresponsibility, but peacetime compulsory military service for youths now growing up.

"They want no politician-ridden national guard system, but a reserve force that in an emergency could provide a full strength of trained units immediately instead of small groups of untrained men organized on paper into companies, battalions and regiments."

GONE IN FLASH

No Bonds For Bricklayer, 80; Someone Stole His $600.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Eighty-year-old Phillip J. Kuhns stuck to his trade of bricklaying this summer until he had saved $600 to buy war bonds.

Arriving at a downtown "victory corner," Kuhns found the office crowded with bond purchasers and he boarded a bus for home, intending to return the following day. At home, he discovered his wallet containing the $600 was gone.

"I guess I'll just go back to work," he observed simply today.

American Finds Australians Like To Initiate Him

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA —(INS)—Major Alvin Mente, of New York City, believes the Australian is the world's most inventive soldier—with good reason.

Coming to Australia recently from the Middle East, where he had been attached to an American military mission, Mente travelled on a boat which was bringing hundreds of Australian soldiers home.

As the ship neared the equator, it was found the only person of the many hundreds on board who had not crossed the "line" was Mente. A special committee was organized and worked for days arranging his initiation ceremony.

On the day the equator was crossed, Mente was subjected to electric chair treatment, shaved, painted, lathered and "ducked" repeatedly. But worse was to come.

The ship followed the equator for almost a week, zigzagging back and forth across it a dozen times—and each time the Australians insisted on initiating Mente anew!

'WONDER BOAT'

Propeller-less Craft Tested on Scioto River.

COLUMBUS—(INS)— Forty miles northwest of Columbus, the sleepy Scioto river is being churned to a frenzy by the antics of a small, strange wonder boat that has captured the heart and pocketbook of the U. S. coast guard.

In the shops of the Hanley Engineering service at Prospect, some 150 workmen are busy on an order for 101 of these new boats, 38 feet long and water propelled. The boat is the brainchild of Keenan Hanley. It has no propeller, water being centrifugally pumped and discharged again. This drives the boat through the water.

In demonstrations for the coast guard, the boat shot streams of water an estimated 200 feet into the air, turned on a dime and backed and swung in arcs. It is to be used for battling water front fires.

To Relieve Bad Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

Swift Acting, and Saves Big Money. Easily Mixed.

You'll be surprised how quickly and easily you can relieve coughs due to colds, when you try this splendid recipe, mixed in your own kitchen. It gives you about four times as much cough syrup for your money, and you'll find it wonderful, for real relief.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. (You can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Add your syrup and you have a full pint of medicine that will amaze you by its quick action. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and tastes fine—children love it.

This simple mixture takes right hold of a cough. For real results, you've never seen anything better. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

ARMY HAS 249 SIZES OF SHOES FOR SELECTEES

They Range Up to 15 and Half With 11 E's For Width If Necessary.

(By International News Service)

BOSTON—If you can walk on your feet, the army quartermaster corps can shoe you.

That is the boast of the Q. M. C., and it takes in much more territory than the average person would imagine. Further, the boast has stood the test of everything the draft boards the nation over have passed into the army.

Kept in stock are 249 different sizes of shoes, ranging from "4's" to "15½'s." Compare this to the 15 sizes standard in the Russian army.

But these standard sizes are routine. This quartermaster corps is expected to fit shoes to all.

Some selectees have outsized feet; others have feet with odd bumps and twists. Reception centers the country over send requisitions, with specifications, to the Boston Quartermaster Depot. Some of those specifications challenge the ingenuity of the army and civilian staff at the depot.

Side by side are sizes 1½ E and 20 EEEEEEEE. That "20" is the longest to date but not the widest; they have one which runs to 11 "E's."

To take care of deformities of the feet, the corps makes patterns and, when necessary, takes plaster casts of pedal extremities. The patterns or casts are turned over to the firms who make the lasts for the shoes. Each last is stamped with the name of the soldier for whom is was made. In this way each man who needs a specially made shoe has only to tell his company QM when he needs new footwear. His name is forwarded to Boston and he need wait no longer than the man with normal feet.

Under the command of Colonel Samuel I. Zeidner, Q. M. C. the Boston depot contracts for 2,500,000 pairs of shoes monthly. These orders include, besides the problems already related such items as 12-inch Bluchers, so built that water cannot seep through the seams into the inside of the boot. This boot is made on a special last to allow for heavy socks and a felt innersole. Alaskan troops use them mostly.

Then there are shoes for parachute troops, desert troops mountain troops and jungle troops

And sneakers for the WAAC's

SING AGAIN

Communities Turning To Own Concerts, Professor Says.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—(INS)—Good, old fashioned community sings, and band and orchestra concerts are coming back with gasless days, says Professor Hummel Fishburn, acting head of the department of music at the Pennsylvania State college.

With tire and gas rationing and defense work holding people in their own communities, the home town music fans are dusting off their pianos and tuning up their fiddles, Professor Fishburn said.

Victory concerts for war effort drives, send-off parades for selective service men, community sings for war defense workers, high school group entertainment for nearby camps and USO centers are jobs which high school music directors must assume, Professor Fishburn indicated.

IT TAKES STINK OUT OF STENCH

New Compound Will Even Make Skunk's Odor Odorless.

NEW YORK —(AP)— A chemical compound that packs a knockout wallop for any offensive odor, up to and including that of skunks, has been perfected.

Any smell that displeases your senses can be eliminated with the compound, a dry powder—and if there's any left over you can freshen up by rinsing your mouth with it.

The three industrial chemists who created "OD-30" announced yesterday that it would be marketed within 60 days.

Americans Describe Gruelling Land and Air Fights For Guadalcanal.

"most interesting time" his squadron had was on Sept. 14 when the Nipponese seaplanes were downed in the brief space of 90 seconds. The enemy craft were shot out of the skies by the American marine fighters to protect their own torpedo planes attacking a Japanese task force near Guadalcanal.

"Five of the Japs jumped out with black parachutes," Smith related.

"They just skinned out as they saw us.

"The others were easy. Not one of us was even scared."

Smith's squadron up to Oct. 11 had shot down 119 Japanese planes. Smith himself shot down four Jap Zero fighters on Aug. 30 alone.

Questioned concerning the performance of the enemy's naval fighter planes, Smith said:

"The Zeros have some better features than our fighters, but if you catch them off doping they are dead ducks.

"Our pilots are distinctly better. If they had the Zeros and the Japs had Zeros ours would win."

Captain Carl said he thought many of the Jap pilots were veterans of the enemy assault against Midway which backfired and resulted in a Japanese rout.

Lieut. Col. Mangrum had a story to tell of the heroism of two unarmed marines who wiped out a Jap artillery crew whose piece held a range over Henderson airfield on Guadalcanal.

"The first artillery landed on Guadalcanal began blasting one end of the runway intent on getting a dangerous gun which was impossible to locate," Mangrum said.

"Finally two marines, one a warrant gunner and the other an enlisted man, crept out, located the gun, killed the crew with rifle fire and then destroyed the artillery piece."

He said his toughest night on the island was that of Oct. 13-14 when two Japanese battleships were shelling the Henderson airport.

In addition, he added, there were four or five separate bombing attacks from midnight on by Japanese four-motored bombing planes.

18 More Members Added to City War Industry Committee

Pecht, Carl O. Russell, Rudy Schneider, and Steve Thoma.

The enlarged membership now includes representatives of labor, real estate firms, retail merchants' organizations, the Junior Association of Commerce, and other civic and religious groups.

Mansfield was listed yesterday by the War Manpower commission in Washington among 10 Ohio cities with a surplus of labor which could be employed at war jobs.

Although C. W. Handley, Mansfield manager of the U. S. Employment service, said the demand for war workers is on the increase here, he pointed out that there are thousands of persons in the city on non-essential jobs who would be available for war work if industry here had a place for them.

He predicted that expansion of war industries in the city would create a demand for from 2,500 to 3,000 more workers within the next six months.

Many Mansfield workers have gone to Marion, Sandusky, and other active war industry centers to find jobs because there was no work available at home, Handley said.

URGES SINGLE FIGHTING UNIT

Congressman Asks Merging of U. S. Army, Navy, and Marine Corps.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Immediate congressional action to abolish the army, navy and marine corps and to substitute for them a single, coordinated fighting force was urged today by Rep. Maas (R.-Minn.), ranking minority member of the house naval committee and himself a flying, fighting, marine colonel.

Just back from a four month tour of duty in the Pacific, Maas said in an interview that his experiences in combat zones had confirmed his opinion that such a step was essential, and that he soon would introduce legislation to put it into effect.

Moreover, he asserted that congress should merge the war and navy departments, leaving but one cabinet officer to represent them both, and that the house and senate should combine their separate military and naval committees into a committee on war.

A veteran of the last World war as well as of the present conflict, Maas declined for reasons of military secrecy to discuss his tour of duty, yet he was present during one phase of the battle of the Solomons and was decorated at New Guinea.

"Our fighting forces—the army, navy, marine corps and the air force—should be reorganized, and reorganized immediately into a single military force," he declared. "This is an amphibious war, a war in which fighting is going on simultaneously on land and sea.

"In an amphibious war, the land and sea forces must work together as a team. They both must have support in the air. Certainly, we should not have a separate air force. Modern warfare calls for action in the other direction, calls for coordination."

HAS 2 REASONS TO JOIN ARMY

Pvt. Grunnet Wants To Be With Son and Pay Back German Bombing.

(By United Press)

MERCED, Calif. — Pvt. George R. Grunnet had two reasons for joining the army, via Merced Army Flying school, he declared.

The first of these was to be with his son, Corp. Gene Grunnet, and the second was to help retaliate for the aerial bombing he himself took in World War 1.

The son is an airplane inspector and the father an aviation mechanic.

"In the last war," he said "I was a sergeant in the advanced section of the 480th Motor Transport Regiment. We didn't see many planes in those days. Our nearest base was more than 100 miles away.

"But once in the St. Mihiel battle, we did undergo aerial bombardment. We were the only ones to be attacked from the air in the battle, and I won't forget it. Now, I want to see that it's our planes that keep flying and attack enemy troops."

Corporal Grunnet, the other half of the Grunnet team, is 21, about half the age of his father. His name is already on orders to leave for glider pilot training. He expects to make that his permanent role in the army.

Two New Battleships Join British Fleet

Two new 35,000-ton battleships of the King George V class are now at sea. H. M. S. Anson, above, and H. M. S. Howe—the British admiralty has announced. The new ships are equipped with high-angle guns, giving them added defense against enemy aircraft.

Not a Good Cigar But Good Two-Bits Meal U. S. Needs

DETROIT — (AP) — What this country needs, the American Dietetic association was told, is—a good 25-cent meal for war workers.

So said Frances Berkeley Floore, nutrition adviser for a Rochester, N. Y., firm, and she also told the big-leaguers among the nation's dieticians how to make two bits go a long way in war plant restaurants despite rising food costs and increasing rationing:

"Just give them a good meal, with no choice or substitutions, but including a protein food, a starchy food, a green vegetable, a salad or relish, bread and butter, a beverage and dessert—and all for 25 cents. The men will like the price and it is up to us to prepare the food so attractively that they will like the contents."

She'd also include milk or a chocolate drink in the quarter lunch, but said workers who wanted tea or coffee might have to cough up another nickel.

PASSING DREAM + + +

By Margaret Gorman Nichols

CHAPTER XXVII

One day Temple braced herself to write to Jud's mother at the address Harry had given her after his telephone call to Boston. She wrote sincerely and honestly, trying to explain their secret marriage. She was neither sentimental nor sorrowful and in the letter included no touching anecdotes of Jud that would cause his mother further grief. Nor did she ask for anything that had been his. She wanted nothing. She had had all of Jud that had been good.

She never heard from Jud's mother. The letter that came in a few days was from her husband. It was remote though not completely unsympathetic letter telling her that Jud's mother was too ill to write, that as far as he had been able to ascertain Jud had had no money in the bank and no belongings other than his clothes and that his insurance had been left to his mother. Temple had a feeling that Mrs. Amory's second husband would be very glad indeed when the dramatics were over and he could get back to his bridge game.

Paula came to her room one evening.

She said, "Hello, dear." She flung a magnificent mink coat carelessly on the floor, flinging, a second later, a small mink hat upon the coat. "I only just heard, Temple . . . I just got back and Abby had phoned my secretary. She is a dear. I've been in New York for weeks. You should have called me and I'd have come immediately. There was nothing important in New York."

"There was nothing you could do, Paula."

"I could have taken you away from this little room." Paula sat opposite Temple, lighted a cigaret and dropped the match on the floor. In a calmer voice she said, "Very well, baby, we won't talk about it. I'll talk about myself, as usual." She inhaled deeply and shook her red head slowly. "This war, Temple, means something different to each and every one of us. The ultimate victory means the same to all of us, of course. But do you know what this war means to me? It means a job, something on which I can use my hands. I am so utterly weary of the things I've been doing. So it takes a war to give a woman like me something to do. It should give all women like me something to do."

"I'm giving up my rooms at the hotel, giving up the inane parties, giving up boredom . . . No one believed me when I came back and said I was going to work. But I am. A job without pay, of course, in a Red Cross office, and I'm more excited about it than anything I've done in years. The shame of it is that it takes a war to stimulate me and make me active and useful."

Temple nodded. "Do you hear the radio down the hall? That's Abby's radio. To her the war means that Miles is in it in the Philippines.

Paula shook her head again. "They have only a fighting chance down there . . . That's what war means to Abby. To another girl it means war at sea. To another it means that an industry which closed its doors on her in peace time will open them gladly to her now. She knows engineering or chemistry or she's strang enough to run a machine. To some it means new jobs and shoes for the kids and to some it means profits they have no right to . . . To some it means the inconvenience of blackouts. It touches all of us in different ways. It touches me. I didn't think anything could touch me again. I didn't think anything could bother you if you had enough money to live as you pleased. How did I get that way? How did I get that way?"

She settled back in the chair.

"Maybe I'll tell you, Temple. Yes, I will tell you. I wish it were more dramatic, but there is nothing dramatic about having been born in near-poverty. Real poverty is dramatic, but near-poverty is just dull. You never read about those people because nothing ever happens to them except birth and marriage and death. Their stomachs are filled sufficiently so that the pinch of hunger doesn't make them strike out for something higher or dangerous or challenging. They write no books, make no music, paint no picture.

"My father was a house painter, my mother had had a fair education in a rural school and we lived in a small, city house as narrow as this room. We were never hungry, but the food was never really good and we had much of the same food. We were never really cold in winter but we were not exactly comfortable either. Our clothes were adequate, just adequate. Our neighbors were the same as we.

"I was a sort of mongrel. I had red hair and a temper and a terrible restlessness that made me want to look into the back yards of other people. But they accounted for me. They shook their heads and said that I 'got it' from my grandfather, my father's father, who had had an itching heel that had taken him all over the world on merchant ships. I never knew the old boy because he died when I was 4, but I was always hearing about him. He had broken the pattern and was not held in high esteem. He was the scapegoat of the family. All my lacks and faults were blamed on him.

"So I grew up in that narrow house in the city block, hating it with my soul. But, as we all did, I stopped school when I was 16 and went to work. That was the patter, too. When you were 16, you had had enough learning for a girl and it was high time you brought in a pay envelope and looked about for a husband.

"But I fell in love with my boss. Isn't that familiar? My boss was young and gay and charming and rich. The grass in his yard was very green indeed. I won't go into any of the romantic details. But it was romantic. I married him and he took me home to his family . . . The grass was very green there, but they wouldn't allow me to walk on it. There were 'No Trespassing' signs all over it and all over their frozen faces. They won, of course. In the end they won. I didn't have a chance. They paid me enough so that I could go abroad and learn what was deficient in my education and forget, they thought, the only boy I ever loved.

"The grass was green in Paris, too. It was brilliantly green. So was I. But I loved it. Paris is my spiritual home. I loved it and I lived there for several years. I learned to look at things the way they should be looked at - pictures and nature. Men were my teachers, good men and bad men, but always interesting men. I was learning why I had had to leave that city block and why my former husband's family had thought me such a poor thing as a wife. I learned about clothes and food. I learned that having red hair can be a major asset to a woman. To my husband's family it had been a calamity. It had been bad enough for him to marry his stenographer, but when they discovered she had red hair, that was too much.

"When I had learned a lot and there didn't seem anything else for me to learn, I asked myself if I was happy because I was still young enough to believe that happiness can be or could be a permanent state. But I wasn't happy. I was scared. I was so afraid that sometimes the house in the city block back home looked rather appealing because it was safe. But I knew if I went back I was sunk and I'd never get away again. I also knew that my money couldn't hold out indefinitely and that my hair and face would become too familiar.

"So I married an old man. The first time I had married a boy I loved; the second time I married an old man who loved me. What a vast difference between the taking and the giving! The taking is such a poor substitute for giving. But he was very rich. We commuted between Paris and New York with the same casualness with which you take a bus to go downtown.

"My pictures were in the papers a lot those days because my husband, who had come up from nothing, liked publicity almost as much as he loved me. But I earned the money he left me when he died in 1929 after a heart attack following the crash. . . . I earned every cent of it.

NORWALK—(AP)—City council will consider next Monday night the removal of an estimated 354 tons of old Lake Shore Electric company rails from city streets for war use.

Their removal was requested by S. R. Murther of the War Production Board's special projects section, Cleveland, who said he would ask for the removal of 25 tons of rails at Amherst and 15 tons at Milan.

BIO-MINERAL FOR BETTER HEALTH!

MINERALS and VITAMINS are considered the very best health remedies today. They are so widely acclaimed, that people look at them as a "God-sent" gift. Books have been written about their merit. The Government encourages the use of them. Professors in colleges praise them sky-high. Bakers now enrich their flour with Minerals and advertise it. Health lectures are heralding the good news about them. In schools, in health institutions, in the press, in churches, on the radio, everywhere, the cry is: MINERALS! . . . MINERALS!

MINERALS are important to keep and regain health. The warring nations bolster the health of their armed forces with minerals. The Medical Profession—now as never before—is stressing the importance of Minerals. We are told that "WE ARE WHAT WE EAT!" Foods lacking in Minerals are often the cause of many ailments, such as: Decaying teeth, Failing eyesight, Nervous tension, Constipation, Gas-Toxins, Bloating, Kidney and Bladder trouble, Frequent colds, Common headaches, Bad breath, general Run-down condition and other disorders.

THE MIRACULOUS AID OF MINERALS

WHY do Doctors, Hospitals, Sanatoriums, Naturalists, and Specialists recommend Minerals? And why do millions year after year rush to Mineral Springs to find cure or relief from Stomach and Kidney ailments, Gall stones, Rheumatism, Arthritis, Neuralgia, Low or High blood pressure, Infantile Paralysis, etc., etc? Because of the miraculous aid of the Natural minerals, known for many centuries as the most reliable remedy for those ailments.

THE CURATIVE properties of Minerals is not a new discovery. In ancient Greece and Rome, in China and India, for thousands of years people knew the curative wonders of Minerals. In America we have the famous Mineral Springs in Georgia, patronized by thousands years after year. In France, the Aix Le Bains and the Louvre, and in Greece, the very famous Springs of Thronion where, according to the legend, Hercules, the God of Strength and Youth drank and bathed to rejuvenate; to be forever young.

BIO-MINERAL IS NATURE'S GIFT

BIO-MINERAL is a combination of vitally important Minerals, blended by Nature for those suffering the agony of Rheumatism, Arthritis, Stomach and Kidney ailments. It comes from the depths of the earth — Nature's laboratory. Is NOT a Mineral Oil, physic or harmful drug. Contains NO alcohol—NO drugs—NO opiates—NO preservatives—NO oil. NOT a SINGLE habit forming ingredient. ONLY Natural, Life-Giving Minerals—these same minerals of the world's best springs in highly concentrated liquid form.

ORDINARY cathartics are habit forming and never cure constipation. They force out the foods and digestive juices from your stomach and do not correct the cause of your trouble. BIO-MINERAL will not interfere with the natural foods in your stomach. It reaches down to the root—to the walls of your intestines, neutralizing, throwing away abnormal waste material, gas-toxins and bloating. Not like physics, oils and cathartics do . . . but in a Natural, harmless, painless way—doing a real "house-cleaning."

TRY BIO-MINERAL AT OUR EXPENSE

IF YOU cannot go to the Mineral Springs, common sense will advise you to try BIO-MINERAL. See the wonderful results 3 days after you start taking it. Regardless of how long you have been suffering and how many medicines and drugs you tried before and did not help you, BIO-MINERAL may be the remedy you needed and were looking for. Try it at our expense! . . . Nothing to lose. It is sold on a Money-Back Guarantee!

It may UPROOT and drive your ailments OUT of your system. BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Miss Midnight's Notebook.

Manhattan Glitter: Grover Whalen sauntering up Fifth without his famous white boutonniere. The war??? . . . Janet Blair singing to the boys at the Stage Door Canteen, making an Irving Berlin lyric come true . . . Crown Prince Bernhard on a sightseeing tour of the town . . . June Priesser (what could be neisser?) romping out of the Barrymore after show time . . . Charles Chaplin applauding Gracie Fields' strenuous nonsense at the Wedgwood Room . . . Arline Judge introducing her new husband; RAF Capt. Jimmy Adams, to Cub Roomers . . . Dorothy Lamour doing a surprise strip tease in the foyer of El Morocco—the brown frock she was wearing, which buttoned all the way down the back, burst completely open from top to bottom. And the next thing that broke loose was pandemonium!

A Stone's Throw From Broadway: What's causing the boom on the Great Dim Way? Well, the other afternoon a taxi drew up to the curb in front of a famous 44th Street ticket brokerage and a husky in overalls alighted and strode into the office.

"Any tickets to 'Sons O' Fun'?" he asked.

The proprietor answered, "Yes. What kind?"

"The best," said the fellow in the work clothes.

"They're $4.40, and with my commission that's over $6 apiece," the broker said hesitantly.

"I ain't askin' how much, Bud," the customer said. "Just give me six."

He pulled out a roll of bills, extracted a few tens with some difficulty, and paid for the tickets. As he was about to leave, the broker said:

"Excuse me, but I'm curious. Is this for a theater party?"

"Naw, Bud, it ain't," the big guy in overalls said tolerantly. "Me and my chums just want someplace to go when we finish work at the Brooklyn Navy Yard!"

The ticket broker says that's the new carriage trade."

Fables From The Fifties: It is not often that the cafe society of this island becomes involved with banshees and wee ones, but occasionally its natives get mixed up in a bit of wood-rapping and superstition—listing what compares favorably with anything the Irish can whip up, as, for instance, the occurrence the other afternoon when Man-About-Town-and-Country Eckert Goodman had cocktails with Novelist Michael Arlen and Innkeeper James Moriarity at the Barberry Room.

They got talking about the new swing harpist, Ruth Berman, at the Ruban Bleu, and Eckert remarked that in many ways he thought her even better than Caspar Reardon, the "original" swing harpist, who was her teacher. Reardon died suddenly over a year ago from an embolism, which no one ever suspected he had, while he was engaged at the Ruban Bleu, and Goodman remarked what a pity his untimely death had been.

Moriarity agreed, but shook his head and muttered an old Gaelic proverb to the effect that the harp was the official instrument of heaven and the angels and that anyone who "monkeyed with" it would meet disaster. Arlen agreed quickly with this, and produced an Armenian proverb to prove the same.

After all this talk of harps the trio decided to go over to the Ruban Bleu and hear Ruth Berman Goodman telephoned to find out what time the swing harpist went on—and learned that she had suffered a sudden acute collapse and was out of the show!

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

(One of a series by Robbin Coons on a tour of the country.)

NEW YORK—They have a cute little outdoor sport in these parts that for thrills, excitement, and hazard puts ice hockey, football and the subway crush in a class with kindergarten games. It's taxi-dodging.

Coons

To play with any hope of survival the wary hinterlander needs either Leon Errol's limber leg, Ray Bolger's lightning agility, or the native New Yorker's sublime trust that they can't do that to HIM.

Some such trust, or magic, must surely protect the blithe jaywalkers who abound in the concrete canyons, flourishing despite the odds against them and the dutiful warnings of officials.

Hollywood's taxi-drivers, who used to be 10-goalers in the traffic polo fields but have slowed their pace to save rubber, seem by contrast with Manhattan's to be sedate coachmen, unhurried and serene.

ONE trick in the game you learn early, taking a cue from the classic political admonition, to-wit, "If you can't lick 'em, jine 'em." Whenever possible, it is best to "jine 'em." After you ride a few times, your heart oddly stays put through routine near catastrophes, and then comes a cocky confidence and a sporting zest as you count off the near-misses with pedestrians, furniture vans, and rival taxis' fenders.

The New York taxi driver, several of them have assured me, is not born to his nerveless daring. "I start out green," as Sam said, "and the first few days I'm plenty nervous but I get over it." Sam thereupon stepped on the gas and demonstrated a broken-field run through the obstacles, including pedestrians, of after-theater Broadway.

A ROCKEFELLER CENTER barbershop posts its art thus: "Because of the large number of theatrical people among our customers, we specialize in the haircut that does not look like a haircut." That's one to ponder. . . .

Fifty-second street still roars as a night-spot center. Leon & Eddie's, the Famous Door, the Onyx, and the rest in the Sixth avenue sector of the old speakeasy belt flourish along with swank "21" where the celebrities can eat, drink and look at each other. And down on the corner, on a vacant lot, somebody had a Victory Garden — with the original kind of corn. . . .

GETS CONTRACT

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Weinstein Construction company of Akron has been awarded an $897,700 contract for construction of 200 houses for war workers in Lorain, the federal housing authority announced.

REPORT FLYNN WILL RETIRE

Washington Hears Michelson Also Will Leave Dem Jobs.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Voluntary retirement soon of Democratic National Committee Chairman Edward J. Flynn and Publicity Director Charles Michelson was regarded in responsible party circles today as a distinct possibility, although both principals said such a development was "very indefinite."

Flynn, 51-year-old New Yorker who became chairman two years ago in time to run President Roosevelet's third term campaign, was reported ready to hand in his resignation soon after the coming elections to accept a diplomatic post, perhaps Ambassador to Mexico.

ENDORSE PROHIBITION

CINCINNATI —(AP)— The Seventh Day Adventists of North America, in a resolution adopted by the church's autumnal council here, endorsed a proposed prohibition rider to legislation to draft 18 and 19-year-olds for armed service.

M'SWEENEY HITS BRICKER RECORD IN WORLD WAR

Democratic Candidate Charges Governor 'Desecrated Army Chaplaincy.'

(By Associated Press)

Irate because he said his patriotism had been questioned, John McSweeney, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, asserted that his Republican opponent, Gov. John W. Bricker, "desecrated the chaplaincy of the army because he used it for expediency" in the first World war.

McSweeney told a Cleveland campaign rally last night that 18 months after the start of World war 1, Bricker enlisted as a chaplain although he had been educated to practice law.

McSweeney's campaign literature states he enlisted in 1917, served in France with a machine gun company and was wounded in action.

"The governor implies that because I said he was uninterested in civilian defense, I have mocked the patriotism of thousands of fine Ohioans," the Wooster Democrat said

"The truth is, the governor is making a mockery of their fine patriotic contributions to civilian defense," McSweeney added.

The former state welfare director asserted mayors and other city officials seeking financial assistance for the civilian defense program were "treated discourteously" by the governor.

Bricker said in an Oct. 12 address that McSweeney had termed "civilian defense in Ohio a joke," and added: "that statement is malicious and positively unpatriotic."

Departing somewhat from a prepared address, McSweeney last night also criticized Don Power, the governor's executive secretary, and Ed D. Schorr, state Republican chairman.

The Democratic candidate said Power, a former major in the 37th division, retired from the Ohio National Guard a year or so ago "when the guard was called into active service."

Bricker, contacted in Cincinnati last night, declined comment on McSweeney's assertions except to say: "I am very proud to serve my country in the capacity in which I did in World war 1."

HIKES PLANNED

Nature Club's First Outing To Be at Mifflin Lake.

The Mansfield Nature club has scheduled a program of hikes and nature study for the coming winter months. Outstanding on their November calendar is a hike to Mifflin lake set for Sunday Nov. 8

Charles Kimmel, conservation officer, will address the group on the subject, "Water Fowl" at its meeting Nov. 20 at the Chamber of Commerce.

December's program will include a talk by Miss Mary Stofer concerning "Nature in Christmas Legend," an evergreen sightseeing trip and a bird count. Other addresses, on subjects in keeping with the seasons, are docketed for 1943.

Officers of the club are Miss Edith Stuckey, president; J. E. Smith, vice president; Miss Martha McFarland, secretary and Miss Dorothy Curtiss, treasurer.

AIRPORT WORK TO BE RESUMED

Repair Part for Machinery Arrives, Contractor Says.

Work on the new hard-surfaced runway at the Mansfield airport, stopped recently when a crusher part broke, will be resumed Monday morning, according to Robert Darling, junior partner of the contractor firm.

The new part for the crusher arrived this morning and repairs will be completed this week, Darling stated

Approximately 76 per cent of the work, exclusive of the "black top" surface, has already been completed, County Engineer Howard Sword, estimated.

DEAD IN WEST

Fred Dew, Former Mansfielder, Stricken in California.

Word of the death of Fred A. Dew, former Mansfield resident, in Pomona, Calif., yesterday, was received here today.

Mr. Dew is survived by his wife, two daughters and two sisters.

HEPBURN QUITS, RIFT BLAMED

Quarrel With Associates Over Communist Party Cited In Ontario Shake-up.

(By United Press)

TORONTO—Mitchell Hepburn's resignation as premier of Ontario was attributed today to a quarrel with his associates over his support of Tim Buck, secretary of the illegal Communist party of Canada.

Hepburn, a Liberal and critic of Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King, resigned last night and was succeeded by Attorney General Gordon Conant.

His explanation was that he had decided to resign because the courts refused to order elections to fill vacancies in the provincial legislature. Many members have gone into the armed forces.

He and his Liberal supporters were reported, however, to have split because Hepburn championed the cause of Buck and other Communist leaders who recently surrendered to face internment orders outstanding for more than two years.

Hepburn interceded for them with Minister of Justice Louis St. Laurent at Ottawa, also pleading that the ban on the Communist party be lifted. The Communists were released conditionally, but the ban was not rescinded.

Hepburn, 46, had been premier since 1934. His resignation automatically dissolved his cabinet, but Conant was expected to include most members in his cabinet.

FLYNN ACCUSED OF ATTACKING GIRL, 15, IN NEW MORALS CASE

(By International News Service)

LOS ANGELES — Film Star Errol Flynn was to surrender today on a new complaint issued by the district attorney's office charging him with criminally assaulting a 15-year-old girl—the second morals offense charge filed against the actor in less than a week.

The new complaint was signed by Peggy Larue Satterle now 17, who asserted that the handsome screen hero twice attacked her during a week-end cruise on his yacht in August 1941.

Flynn, who steadfastly maintained he was innocent of both charges, was scheduled to appear in court tomorrow for a preliminary hearing on charges involving 17-year-old Betty Hansen, a movie-struck Lincoln, Nebraska, girl who accused the actor of attacking her three weeks ago at the Bel-Air home of Fred McEvoy, British sportsman

Miss Satterle, pretty brunette who is an entertainer at a local night club, declared in her complaint that the actor had invited her to be a guest aboard his yacht, the Sirocco, on a cruise to Santa Catalina island 13 months ago.

She charged that Flynn attacked her twice in the cabin of the yacht while en route to the island resort. It was disclosed by authorities that the girl's mother, Mrs. William Satterlee of Santa Barbara, demanded an investigation into the asserted attacks.

The investigation was cancelled when the girl's parents decided not to press the charges because of the unfavorable publicity which would result, authorities said.

Flynn was working in a picture with Ann Sheridan when he was informed of the second assault charge.

"What are they persecuting me for?" the Irish-born actor, who recently became a United States citizen, demanded. "I'm innocent of these charges."

SETS UP CORPS

Scout Executive Organizes 'Minute Man' Group.

Boy Scouts throughout the Johnny Appleseed area are being asked to join the "Minute Man" corps and pledge their services to the community for the duration, according to Floyd Dent, scout executive, who sent out 1,050 letters to the boys requesting them to sign up in the corps.

In his letter, Dent said that since the scouts are being called upon to serve daily, a unified corps would enable fast mobilization in an emergency. Cards enclosed in the letters must be signed by the parents before a scout can pledge his entire services.

If any boy fails to live up to his scouting oath after joining the corps, scoutmasters will be instructed to take up his badge, Dent said.

Mayor W. J. Locke turned street department employe for a short time last night and attracted an audience while he worked at the job. Seeing a sewer catchbasin clogged with leaves at Park avenue and Walnut street during the heavy shower about 5 p. m., the mayor borrowed a broom from a nearby store and went to work clearing a path for the water which rapidly was forming a lake. From the shelter of an awning a group of friends yelled encouragement

One girl has hit upon the idea of regularly shining her brother's shoes as her method of earning money. Scout leaders are placing emphasis on the fact that the money should be earned by the girls rather than accepted as a gift from parents.

John Simpson Junior high football fans yesterday afternoon found the best spectator vantage point for games at Stadium field during a heavy rain, and the point wasn't on the 50-yard line or even in the press box. Chased en masse from the field by a downpour at the beginning of the second half of Simpson's game with Galion, the kids raced to the high school gym and saw the rest of the game from the tall windows over the permanent gym seats. And they cheered each touchdown just as though the players could hear them.

Thousands of Fire Fighters Fail To Check Spread of Wind-Swept Blaze.

BULLETIN

LOS ANGELES — (U.P.) — A slackening wind today helped fire fighters battling a blaze which swept the Balibu hills and left an estimated $500,000 worth of destroyed and damaged homes in its wake.

(By International News Service)

SANTA MONICA, Cal.—Families in residential sections in the Santa Monica mountains were evacuated from their homes today as one of Southern California's worst forest fires resisted efforts of thousands of fire fighters to check its destructive course.

A number of homes, several of them luxurious residences of film celebrities, already have been destroyed by the blaze Hundreds of other residences and estates were imperiled by the wind-swept flames.

Officials directing the work of the ever-increasing crews of fire fighters reported late last night that some progress had been noted in controlling the flames, but that flying embers have started additional fires in isolated areas.

Refugee camps for families evacuated from danger zones were swiftly set up in relatively safe areas. Emergency Red Cross stations operated on a 24-hour basis and many fire fighters were treated for burns and other injuries.

No loss of human life was reported, but it was expected that many forest creatures and domestic animals were trapped and burned to death in flaming canyons.

A number of families fleeing the blaze were forced to abandon automobiles, trailers and other vehicles on canyon roads so swiftly did the flames sweep down mountainsides.

An intensive investigation was ordered into origin of the costly blaze.

Chicken Soup to Have More Meat In It, Says OPA

WASHINGTON —(INS)— From now on you will be able to buy chicken soup with chicken in it.

The OPA announced that action has been taken to increase the solid content of soups and that new types of canned soups making their appearance—usually labeled "new and improved style" or "new recipe" are higher in food value than former varieties

One kind of bouillon has 130 per cent more dry food, a chicken soup has increased its solids by 60 per cent and a vegetable soup now packs 26 per cent more "body" content.

The OPA said that the new wartime style soups will, however, be a few cents higher, as raw foodstuffs and production costs have increased slightly wholesale and retail prices.

But, the OPA said, if housewives think the prices are too high they should check the storekeeper's price record as soups with the new labels packed after June 30, should not be higher than March price ceilings.

HIRING WOMEN HIT BY TAFT

Senator Says Older Men Should Be Given Jobs First.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Communities enlisting women to work in their war plants must avoid indiscriminate hiring of those "who should not for various reasons work in factories," according to Charles P. Taft, assistant director of defense health and welfare services in Washington

"Woman's place is in the home," Taft told the Columbus conference on women in industry last night. "Who else can bear the new generation and who else can bring it to adolescence and even to maturity?"

He urged hiring first the "unemployed minority groups — older people, many of them needing jobs, or Negroes out of work."

URGES PAY-UP

Bricker Tells Communities to Cut Down Their Debts.

CINCINNATI — (U.P.) — Local governments were urged by Governor Bricker to "pay their debts down to a minimum . . . conserve and save some money" in preparation for "the battle of solvency" that will come in the post-war period.

In an address before the National Tax association convention last night, Bricker asked that Ohio local subdivisions emulate the state in placing their finances on stable, pay-as-you-go bases without outside aid.

It's All Done With Buttons

By DOROTHY ROE
Wide World Fashion Editor.

You can button up your Christmas gift problems right now with jewelry—you guessed it!—made from buttons.

High school girls started the fad of making lapel pins and bracelets from unusual buttons, college gals followed suit, adding earrings and ornamental combs, and mom, Big Sister Sue and Aunt Mehitabel are taking up the craze with enthusiasm and abandon.

Now is not too early to start, if you want to accumulate a really impressive collection of button jewelry, for gifts or for your own personal adornment. You can make a button bracelet and earrings to match those unusual jeweled buttons on your best black dress. You can make twin clips to perk up the neckline of a plain dress, or hatpins to dress up that untrimmed turban. The handsome button originals now on the market make your scope practically limitless.

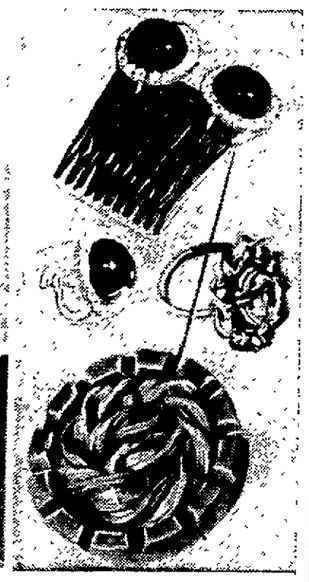
If you are enjoying an upswept hairdo, nothing is more effective than jeweled combs to hold it up. You make them simply by tying a couple of jeweled buttons to some little dime-store side combs. When you're tired of them, take the buttons off and use them on a dress.

To make button earrings, pry the settings out of an old pair of earrings or clips. With pliers, snip the plastic shank off the back of buttons. Put a drop of plastic cement on earring disk. Press button in place on top of cement. Let dry 4 to 6 hours. If button slides in drying, screw earrings onto a thin shelf edge, button side up.

Button bracelets are made by sewing ornamental buttons at intervals to a piece of silk cord, which is knotted at one end, sewed in a loop at the other, fastened by slipping loop over last button.

Lapel turban or hat pins are made by putting a corsage pin through a large button shank as far as it will go, cementing in place with household cement.

BUTTON JEWELRY. She wears earrings and pendant made from the same gold and plastic button originals that trim her dress.



BUTTON, BUTTON! This jeweled comb and earring, unusual ring and turban pin are all made at small cost from button originals.

Would Cut Beet Thinning Work 70 Per Cent, Says Inventor.

(By United Press)

TWIN FALLS, Ida. — Necessity has fostered invention of a machine to replace manpower in the tedious sugar-beet thinning job, and Idaho farmers eyed its possibilities as a savior of their crops next year.

The machine, invented by G. H. Self, middle-aged Twin Falls county truck farmer, may eliminate as much as 70 per cent of the usual beet thinning operations, which stymied labor-lacking beet growers this year.

The only qualification necessary to successful operation of Self's beet-thinning device is that farmers plant "segmented seed," a treated seed which produces only one shoot instead of many.

Self said that the tractor-towed machine can thin a given area of beets in the time required by 100 workers, provided augmented seed is used and that the beets are thinning before they are one inch high. The machine could thin six-inch growth, but not without loss to much of the crop.

Damage In Fortress Raid Heavy, Belief

BULLETIN

LONDON — (U.P.) — American Boeing Flying Fortresses destroyed nine Nazi fighters in their attacks on the Lorient submarine base and a Nazi airdrome near Cherbourg, American Army Air Force headquarters announced today.

LONDON — (UP) — Detailed crew reports were expected to reveal today that American Flying Fortresses inflicted heavy damage on the big German U-boat base at Lorient, France, and the Maupertus airdrome near Cherbourg in simultaneous daylight raids made with fighter protection yesterday.

It was believed that the big four-engined bombers, three of which were lost, again took a heavy toll of German fighters as they did in their attack on Lille Oct. 9 when 48 planes were shot down and more than 50 damaged.

The loss of three Flying Fortresses at Lorient was the highest suffered by the superbombers in a single raid and brought the total lost over Europe to seven.

Vichy France admitted the raid —attributed it mistakenly to the RAF—and said it had been one of the heaviest made on German objectives in France. At least 550 casualties, including 100 dead, were reported by Vichy. The bombers struck and disappeared before the Germans could throw their heavy defenses into full action, Vichy dispatches said.

While the Fortresses smashed the Germans' principal base for submarine operations in the Atlantic, American single-engined Mustang fighters and Britain's new Mosquito light bombers raced hundreds of miles across enemy territory to attack objectives in Holland and northwestern Germany in daylight.

Vichy Expects Allied Drive On Libya

LONDON—(INS)—A Madrid dispatch to the Daily Mail said today that Vichy Frenchmen, apparently no longer fearing that an attack against the port of Dakar in West Africa is imminent, believe the United Nations may be preparing a drive on Axis forces in Libya and Egypt from French Equatorial Africa.

The theory put forth by Vichy, it was said, is that an assault against German General Field Marshal Erwin Rommel will be made from the Chad region of French Equatorial Africa which is controlled by Gen. Charles De Gaulle's Fighting French.

In support of this belief Vichy sources were said to have asserted that a large force of troops, mainly French and American, equal to or superior to the British eighth army in Egypt is concentrated in regions north of Lake Chad, on the border of British Nigeria, roughly 350 miles south of the Libyan boundary.

Nine Killed By Nazi Bombs In England

LONDON—(INS)—Nine persons were reported killed today when a Nazi plane bombed a village in East Anglia in daylight.

A municipal housing site was hit and few houses in the development escaped damage. A number of persons, including children, were injured.

Raiders also bombed a southeast coastal town where direct hits were scored on business premises and houses. Many other structures also were damaged by the bomb blasts. There were some casualties here but no fatalities.

Darlan On Way To Visit Dakar Base

VICHY — (AP) — Admiral Jean Darlan, head of all Vichy's armed forces, arrived today at Algiers on his way to the key French South Atlantic base at Dakar.

The news of his trip received widespread attention because of reports of the landing of American forces in Liberia and the Axis interpretation that this was a prelude to an American attempt to occupy the French West African port.

Liberia has a land frontier almost 500 miles long adjoining French West African territory.

(Reports reaching Switzerland said Vichy was making every effort to appear calm over the African situation.)

Darlan's trip to Dakar started after repeated assertions by the French government that France was ready to defend the base against any attack. Elderly white women and children were ordered evacuated from the port.

The admiralty issued a formal denial yesterday of charges reported here from abroad that German submarines operating in the Atlantic had received assistance from West Africa.

Admiral Raeder On Way Out, Report

LONDON—(INS)—Grand Admiral Eric Raeder, commander-in-chief of the German fleet, is expected to resign his post soon, a dispatch to the Daily Sketch said today.

Neutral correspondents in Berlin were said to believe that Raeder will step out shortly because of recent notices of instruction from the German propaganda ministry.

The propaganda office was said to have sent notes to all German newspapers not to refer to the state of Raeder's health and a neutral correspondent who attempted to cable the story to his paper was expelled.

It is known, the Daily Sketch added, that similar notices about other Nazi chieftains which have been sent to German editors always have been followed by the dismissal or retirement of the chief concerned.

Allies Bomb Axis Forces In Africa

CAIRO — (INS)— Allied bombers have carried out another successful series of raids on Axis airfields and concentration points in Libya and Egypt and damaged an enemy transport off the Egyptian coast, a Middle East command communique disclosed today.

Bombers and fighters attacked the transport between El Daba and Sidi Haneish and then pounded the Axis landing field at El Daba.

Other squadrons raided Tobruk, Sollum and Fort Capuzzo in Libya, and the landing field at El Gubbi while other formations strafed enemy transport columns on the Tobruk-Bardia highway.

Chiropractor Accused of Killing Ohio Woman.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Alfred A. Taylor, 63-year-old chiropractor, was to be arraigned today on a charge of second degree murder filed by police in the death of Mrs. Mary Madeline Thrall, 21. Taylor was freed under $1,000 bond.

Detective Sgt. C. C. Cole, head of the homicide squad, said that Coroner Edward E. Smith's autopsy on Mrs. Thrall's body revealed that "an attempt had been made to perform an illegal operation."

NAVY OPPOSES DRY AMENDMENT

upon the army the job of "enforcing prohibition in metropolitan areas, such as New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco," and all other areas adjacent to army camps.

Sumson wrote Chairman Robert R. Reynolds (D., N. C.) of the senate military affairs committee yesterday that "the effects of the proposed amendment will be destructive rather than constructive."

"I am convinced that any attempt to control the liquor problem through legislation applied exclusively to military personnel will only impede the progress now being made in our own effective methods of attaining temperance," he said.

He added that it "would impose upon us the difficult problem of combatting bootleg operations, and would seriously undermine morale."

Stimson said temperance among soldiers "is obtained by the application of practical and tolerant measures, from education, supervision, and restriction, rather than from flat prohibition," and declared that the restricted sale of beer on military reservations "facilitates self-control and discourages excesses."

War department regulations prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors on any premises used for military purposes. Wine and 3.2 per cent beer is not deemed intoxicating and the sale of it is allowed at post exchanges where state laws permit. But even those beverages are prohibited in army posts within dry states.

Possession of liquor purchased outside the post and carried in, either by officers or enlisted men, is governed by regulations established from time to time by local post committees.

Lee's amendment follows closely a bill originally introduced in the senate by the late Sen. Morris Sheppard (D., Tex.), father of the 18th amendment. It prohibits the sale or possession of liquor—including beer, ale and wine—on the premises of a military or naval installations or "within such reasonable distance . . . as the secretary of war (or navy) shall determine to be needful to the efficiency, health, and welfare of the army and or navy. . . ."

The amendment also would make prostitution a federal offense in the areas surrounding army or navy installations. Penalty for violation of any of the amendment's provisions would be a fine of $100 to $1,000, imprisonment from 30 days to 12 months, or both.

BREAK WIRES

Hold-up Men Jam Telephones in Three Robberies.

CINCINNATI — (UP) — Three men who made certain that their victims could not telephone police immediately climaxed a night of crime by holding up employes of the exclusive Vernon Manor hotel early today.

Three holdups netted the robbers $388 in money. Earlier, they had robbed the Ritz theater and the Mayflower restaurant. In each holdup, the men either tore telephones from the wall or jammed them.

effort. Speaking of the "understanding," he said:

"In essence the procurement departments and agencies are to provide the SWPC with lists of requirements of items suitable in the judgment of the procurement department or agency for the attention of the SWPC.

"And, in addition, the departments and agencies are to furnish the SWPC with copies of their entire supply programs from which the division will select items, for the manufacture of which it believes it can undertake to provide sources.

"In other words, a double-barreled attack on the problem is being made."

Previously, Lieut. Gen Brehon B. Somervell, army chief of supply, told the senate small business committee that hundreds of small industrial plants would have to close "and you can put that down as a fact."

Somervell said the army simply could not fit them into the production program. Chairman Murray (D.), Mont., charged that the witness' statements on the use of small plants to the fullest extent were "pious protestations."

DEBT GROWS

U. S. Spending Past 20 Billion Mark For Fiscal Year.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Government spending today passed the $20,000,000,000 mark for the current fiscal year, of which $18,400,000,000 was for war purposes, according to treasury estimates.

The public debt has surged upward to approximately $96,000,000,000. The treasury's October borrowing of $4,100,000,000 placed the debt at more than $95,737,000,000 at the beginning of this week.

Meanwhile, President Roosevelt assured collection of higher excise taxes in November by signing the new tax bill—the largest in history. By acting late yesterday he made it possible for $65,000,000 of higher excise taxes on liquor, travel, telephone service, cigarets, telegrams and other items to go into effect Nov 11.

STIMSON SAYS JAPS MAY HOLD TOKYO RAIDERS

Admits Some American Airmen May Have Been Seized In Occupied China.

the crew has been interned since that time.

"Several other crews were forced to land in China because of a gasoline shortage and very few are carried as missing.

"It is therefore possible that some may have landed in Japanese dominated territories or were captured. I understand the names of four men mentioned by Tokyo fairly well corresponds to four fliers who were on that raid."

The Japanese radio said that the four American airmen had been convicted of bombing nonmilitary objectives and would be punished "in accordance with international law."

The enemy radio gave their names as Second Lieut. William J. Farrow, 23, Darlington, S. C.; Second Lieut. Dean E. Hollmark, 27, of Dallas, Tex., Corp. D. De Shazer, 29, of Oregon, and Sergeant Harold Spatz, 20, of Kansas.

These names correspond closely to some in the list of 80 officers and non commissioned officers who were decorated for their part in the raid on Toyko and other Japanese cities.

Stimson said that the United States intends to abide by the Geneva convention in the treatment of prisoners and added that "we expect our enemies to do the same."

The secretary said that the American Red Cross has been instructed to make every effort to see that "the rules of humanity are carried out."

At the time of the raid on Japan, war department officials reported that the American bombers blasted military installations and munitions factories in the Tokyo area.

Following return of some of the airmen, they reported being within sight of the imperial palace in Tokyo but carefully avoided dropping bombs there on orders of Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle, leader of the bombing squadron.

Loss of Destroyers Hints Battle's Fury

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Loss of two more U. S. destroyers and damage to two Japanese warships today emphasized the mounting fury of the Solomons' battle as the enemy disclosed new aerial "decoy" tactics apparently designed to lure protecting American planes from vital Guadalcanal airfield.

Employment of new aerial strategy was revealed in the navy's latest communique which stated that 30 "Zero" fighters preceded by one hour a new bombing raid on the U. S. airfield, but the ruse failed and nine more Jap planes were destroyed.

The same communique stated that the U. S. destroyers Meredith and O'Brien were lost as the result of enemy action in the Solomons recently and that American planes damaged a Jap destroyer and cruiser in action on Oct. 19-20.

"The report of casualties has not yet been received, but it is believed that all personnel of the O'Brien and many of the personnel of the Meredith were rescued," the navy said.

Meanwhile, the navy reported that U. S. planes have continued to stall the 11-day old Japanese offensive to recapture Guadalcanal.

Success of American aerial defense tactics to date was indicated by the fact that more than 95 Jap planes have been destroyed since the present battle began Oct. 13. The total of Jap plane losses in the entire Solomons campaign now stands at more than 352.

But the situation in the Solomons remained critical and the outcome undecided, with large numbers of enemy ships and troops still awaiting the signal to strike in force in another attempt to oust the Americans from Guadalcanal.

Sees End of Japs In Stanley Mountains

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Headquarters in Australia —(INS)— The intensified battle being waged by Australian ground forces against Japanese troops in the Owen Stanley mountains of New Guinea "probably is the beginning of the end for the Japs in that area," a spokesman at Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters declared today.

The statement was made after issuance of the daily official communique which revealed that the Jap forces had been driven from their defensive positions around Eora, a few miles north of Templeton's crossing in the Kokoda gap.

County Board Re-Questioning Them About Changes In Deferment Status.

single men and those married since the draft law was enacted nearly exhausted, boards soon must begin inducting married men without children whether or not their wives are working, Col. Gobel said in instructions to the county draft boards.

Richland county board clerks said they have had a number of reports of wives quitting their jobs or refusing to accept work when they thought their husbands might be called for induction.

"There is no logical reason for women who are working to quit their jobs, or for those who may choose to accept employment not to do so," Col. Goble said. "Thousands of wives of men now in the service are contributing immensely to the war effort in Ohio.

"In the light of revised regulations, as contained in the service men's allotment act which went into effect July 15, the fact that a wife works or does not work is no longer a determining factor in a board arriving at proper reclassification of a registrant who may have been classified III-A under former regulations."

As to wives who are physically incapable of working, Col. Goble pointed out that regulations always have stipulated that each case be considered on its individual merits. As to wives who are not now working but who are capable of doing so, he pointed to a section which stated that boards, "in applying the . . . rules, should consider reasonable sacrifices which the war effort demands of all people living in the United States."

He conceded that, under these two sections, much still remained under the discretion of the local boards.

Measurement Reduced by Exercises

By MME. QUI VIVE

We have to warn the plumpies that taking tucks in the bust measurement is no easy task It is no good making a start on this line of figure remodeling unless you are willing to keep on with the treatments for at least four months. If at the end of six weeks a half inch has been lopped off, one can feel encouraged. After that the good reports come faster One or two inches less makes a considerable change in a woman's appearance. Getting down to a smaller sized gown is an exciting joy.

If adipose tissue is distributed all over the body, dietary discipline is necessary. The caloric value of foods must be low, but that does not mean that all fats, sweets and starches must be depleted. Carbohydrates are necessary to create energy, so take one piece of toast with each meal.

Enough fat will be supplied by a small pat of butter with each meal. No fat meats, fried foods or pastries Tea and coffee should be taken clear. Milk is all right if the cream is skimmed off.

It often happens that the figure generally is of normal proportions but the bust is overdeveloped. Then dieting is not necessary or desirable.

Large, sagging breasts are often the penalty a woman pays for having weak back muscles. Carrying the shoulders forward is another cause. The tissues, stretched by their own weight, become depleted To correct this condition, there is nothing better than a rowing machine These nifty little contraptions are sold in shops that specialize in sporting goods. They fold up, are packed in a box no larger than a suitcase.

The machine calls into vigorous play the fibers of the upper back, chest and arms puts them in condition. The backward pull lifts the breasts, hardens underlying chest muscles.

No half-hearted efforts, understand. That's the trouble in many cases A woman will go through movements casually; she is wasting her time. Unless energy is used and muscles tightened, nothing will happen.

Arm swinging will normalize the breasts, develop those that are undersized, reduce those that are too large.

Stand tall, chest high Double up one hand, swing the arm in a circle, far out in front, high up at the side, far back. Ten times with one hand, ten with the other, and repeat. Swing as if you were hurling a heavy weight around.

Rump Roast In Menu Is Inexpensive

By BETSY NEWMAN

One thing a housewife has to consider in buying meat, is whether the cheaper cuts are as economical as the more expensive taking into consideration the waste in bone, gristle, etc Cuts of meat that are nearly all meat really are better buys from an economical standpoint than the cheaper cuts For instance, a rump roast of beef is practically all meat, while a shoulder or breast cut has considerable bone.

Today's Menu.
Rump Roast Beef
Roasted Potatoes
Scalloped Onions
Waldorf Salad
Chocolate Refrigerator Cake
Coffee

Rump Roast.
4 lbs. Rump of Beef
1 Onion
1 Small Bay Leaf
Salt, Pepper

Light oven and heat to 350 degrees. Wipe meat with damp cloth and put in roasting pan, cook uncovered for one hour. Take out, add onion and bay leaf, season well with salt and pepper, return to oven and roast another hour, or until thoroughly tender adding a little hot water to pan if it seems dry. Some cooks roast meat uncovered for the whole time but I like to cover it after it has browned thoroughly Add potatoes to pan, at least three-fourths of an hour before meat is done, sprinkle with salt after putting in pan Serves six.

Chocolate Refrigerator Cake
2 Squares Unsweetened Chocolate
½ Cup Water
Vanilla Wafers
1 1-3 Cup (1 Can) Sweetened Condensed Milk

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler, add condensed milk and stir over boiling water five minutes, until mixture thickens, add water Line oblong pan with wax paper, cover with chocolate mixture, add layer of vanilla wafers, alternating in this way until chocolate mixture is used finishing with layer of wafers Chill in refrigerator, either automatic or ordinary ice box for twelve hours or longer To serve, turn out on small platter and carefully remove wax paper Cut in slices. It may be garnished with whipped cream if you like Serves eight.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

Ronald went down the hall as if I had pushed him, and I fairly raced down stairs to the library, where I had left Dicky and my father. Harry Underwood was with them.

"I've only a minute" I said It's all right with Lillian. Carolyn is in her arms again getting the mothering she needs"

"That will be the best thing possible for Lil," Harry said. "I've just heard how you brought the girl around"

"Never mind that now," I said "First I want to know something"

"Name it," Dicky said with a grin.

"Is there any reason, Dicky, why Ronald cannot go with you and Miss Whitlock tomorrow when you take Carolyn back to Westhampton?"

"I haven't any," he said. "What about you, Dad?"

"It all depends on Ronald's attitude," my father said judicially. "I thought he was very much upset over his sister's derelictions."

"He was—and is," I said, because he still believes Carolyn has guilty knowledge of Marion's disappearance But when I tell him the truth I think he will want very much to be with her"

"Of course he can go," my father said "Tell him that from me, when you have told him about Carolyn.

"As for you and Richard, I would like you to go back to the Lansfield until morning I never leave that suite alone Noel and Mary have been mounting guard there since I left, and they probably are getting very sleepy"

Harry Underwood stretched his arms above his head and said "I've been propping my own eyes open for the last hour."

"You won't have to much longer," I said. 'My talk with Ronald won't take more than five minutes I'll tell him you'll look in on him then and see he's comfortable for the night Shall I?"

"Surest thing you know," the big man said

I hurried up the stairs again and found Ronald staring out of the window I walked in without knocking and he did not hear my entrance.

"Come and sit down, Ronald," I said quietly.

Ronald In Suspense.

"Shall I shut the door?" he asked and I nodded.

He shut the door, then took a chair opposite me and leaned forward, looking at me intently

"Did—did you find out anything more about Carol's activities?" he asked fearfully.

"Do you know Ronald," I said "I feel exactly like a hunter who has followed a false trail, then found he had to retrace his steps to the starting point"

"What do you mean?" he said unsteadily, "that you were mistaken about Carolyn, or that you have found out some other despicable thing she has done?"

"The Authority on Authorities"

WORK ON THEM EARLY

When you see an impending danger that you might not develop a certain trick or tricks before the declarer gets a vital discard on some other suit, it is a time to hurry If you don't begin to build up that situation in the other suit, you may never be able to use it. When you recognize a combination of these elements, all else usually must be laid aside while you concentrate upon it.

	♠ K 10 7 6 ♥ Q 5 ♦ J 10 8 4 ♣ A 6 2
♠ A J 8 3 2 ♥ 6 4 ♦ 9 7 2 ♣ 10 9 5	N W E S	♠ Q 9 ♥ A 7 3 ♦ A Q 5 3 ♣ Q J 7 3

Where South had plenty of eggs for breakfast and bid 3-No Trumps on his third turn, that contract was made, with five tricks in hearts one in the spade suit which got led one in diamonds and two in clubs But more interesting play developed at the heart contracts some declarers taking ten tricks and some nine, all dependent on what the defense did.

At one table the diamond 9 was opened, covered by the 10 and A, and East did not like the idea of leading any different suit up to that dummy, so returned the diamond 3 to the K South sent the heart Q to the A, ruffed the returned diamond Q, cleared trumps, led to the club A and discarded a club from his own hand on the diamond J Later the spade A scored, so that he lost only one trick in diamonds, one in hearts and one in spades, but none in clubs.

At another table when East won the opener with the diamond A, he saw the danger that South might discard a club on the fourth

Tomorrow's Problem.

If West doubles South's 6-No Trumps after hearing spades, hearts and clubs bid and leads the diamond 5, how should South play to make his contract?

diamond. So, chancing South having the 10, he led back the club Q, the K winning. South cashed the diamond K and led the heart 2 to the Q and A East then put forth the club 3 to the A. The diamond J was covered by the Q and ruffed, setting up the 8 for a club discard, but South never had a chance to use it. He had to get the trumps out first, which he did with two more rounds, then led toward the spade K. But West came in with the A and led the setting club before South had a chance to get rid of it on the dummy's good diamond.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, Oct. 23.

The auguries for this day intimate that right action, resourcefulness and enterprise, backed up by industry, application, wise decisions and proper regard for financial and other outlay may eventually bring success and fair profit. Shun extravagance, tempestuous conduct and domestic strife.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a year calling for very careful and considerate conduct, both in business and private associations With enterprise, industry, good judgment and sound principles there should be progress. The mentality may be keyed up to sharp insight as well as common sense and practical reliability

A child born on this day may have a contradictory nature, with sound and dependable mentality, but with impulses prone to let the better judgment be overruled.

PAYS $50 ON SPEED CHARGE

Clifford O. Eberhard, Youngstown truck driver, preferred forfeiture of $50 rather than risk a jail term on a three-months-old speeding charge, municipal court records indicate.

Eberhard was spotted Saturday evening by State Highway Patrolman R. L. Taflinger who had scanned the license numbers of hundreds of trucks since July 6 when Eberhard failed to respond to a citation charging him with speeding on U. S. Route 30-S.

He was held in city jail several hours, while his tractor-trailer outfit was parked off the highway near Mansfield, until a $50 cash bond was wired to police headquarters by his Youngstown employer. When he failed to answer in court Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch declared the bond forfeited.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1942.

Optimistic thought: Each day brings the end of the war, and victory, one day nearer.

Any day now it may be expected that some speeder will tell the judge that he's never heard about the 35-mile limit.

Brought over from Shelby was this one about a woman who was heard to remark: "Well, I got ahead of the hoarders this time—I bought 25 pounds of coffee to keep it away from them."

Proposal To Reduce Voting Age

PROPOSAL to reduce the voting age to 18 is a quite natural consequence of action being taken to draft youths of that age into military service—and it would be difficult to argue convincingly that a young man capable of serving as a soldier was not also capable of voting and performing other acts of citizenship.

As Senator Vandenberg puts it: "If young men of 18 are to be drafted to fight for their country, they should be able to vote for the kind of government the country is to have."

Like many other things, the idea that 21 marks a point at which irresponsible childhood changes overnight to mature adult capability, originated long ago in common law and has remained unchanged, although the educational average in the United States has progressed to such extent that a majority of today's young people are probably better informed on public affairs at the age of 18 than their grandparents were likely to have been at twice that age.

As school children look around and observe that it is age, not intelligence, that conveys the right to vote—and that some voters require an eagle or a rooster at the top of the ticket to designate political party—they will realize that it is by constitutional provision, not as a reflection on their intelligence or judgment, that the voting privilege is withheld until they reach the age of 21.

Congress cannot change the voting age—all it could do would be to approve submission of a constitutional amendment to the states, which would then have to be ratified by at least 36 of the 48 states before it could become effective. This would take considerable time—probably a year or more—and it may be wondered if the percentage of youth interest in voting would run any higher than the 30 to 50 per cent customarily recorded among citizens now eligible to vote.

Solomons May Prove Japan's Sedan

EVER SINCE 1870 Sedan has been a word of ill omen to the French. There the Emperor Napoleon III surrendered with his entire army to the Prussians under Von Moltke, thereby losing both the war and Alsace-Lorraine. In 1918 the unpleasant association was forgotten for a time, when Sedan marked the farthest advance of the victorious French army before the armistice. But in 1940 the old reputation of the town reappeared stronger than ever. Here the Germans made the final break-through that marked defeat of the French army.

So far the Solomon Islands have been Japan's Sedan. There, after their initial conquest they have suffered defeat after defeat. Just lately, after a coup in which they sank four American warships, they slumped again and lost five vessels of their own. They then engaged in a protracted battle which may make or break the reputation of the islands for Japan.

Some savage tribes refuse to utter the name of a place or thing that has brought them continual ill fortune. It would not be surprising if the Japanese, whose conduct shows them to be as savage as any painted man with a flint axe, should in their future histories refuse to mention the Solomons.

Pedestrian Rights at Crossings

OCCASIONAL reminders of common violations of traffic regulations may be made to serve a good purpose—especially if associated with an arrest, as was the case yesterday when Traffic Commissioner Boals warned against the practice of horn-honking which some motorists impudently indulge in when a pedestrian has the right-of-way at a crosswalk.

The habit of cutting corners in making a left turn, disregarding pedestrians in making a right turn, and not waiting for pedestrians to get across the street when lights change, is too common in Mansfield to be safely ignored.

As Commissioner Boals says: "Too many motorists think that when they honk a horn the pedestrian should scurry to safety. It must be remembered that persons walking properly on crosswalks have the right-of-way."

It might also be well to keep in mind that motorists driving in the RIGHT direction in a one-way street or alley have the right-of-way, although some persistent violators of such restrictions seem to feel differently about it.

Strike May Close Columbus Schools

AN INTERESTING situation is developing in the Columbus public school system in connection with demands for wage increases being made by operating employes—janitors, engineers and firemen.

The board of education in Columbus has been warned by a union official that "we are in the process of taking a strike vote and a strike may be called at any time."

"You can't expect people in 1942 to live on 1932 salaries," the union leader said.

No, that is true—but where public employment is involved, as in a school system sustained by taxation, shouldn't there be some way of securing reasonable wage adjustments without resorting to the strike weapon and resultant shut-down of the city school system?

If, as in some cities, Columbus teachers happen to be organized as an A. F. L. labor union affiliate, a "sympathy" strike of teachers would also be in order, and the entire school system disrupted for an indefinite time.

Compensation of persons employed in various branches of public service is necessarily based on funds made available by taxation, rather than from money that might otherwise increase profits, as in private employment—and no great difficulty should be encountered in deciding on fair payment for services rendered by school employes—which, however, might not equal wartime wages in similar industrial jobs.

It was Clyde Moore, Ohio State Journal paragrapher, who thought to remark: "From the birth reports it looks like the slogan was 'Reproduction Will Win the War'."

THE VANISHING AMERICAN

History Repeats In Sub Warfare

—By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

HISTORY apparently is repeating itself in Germany's submarine warfare against Allied shipping.

In 1917-18 unrestricted U-boat campaign reached its peak and had the Allies near defeat. Admiral Jellicoe advised the prime minister that the loss of shipping might soon force the Allies to sue for peace.

By prodigious effort and an intensified convoy system, the menace was overcome. Sinking declined rapidly and the rate of shipbuilding outstripped losses.

It would be unwise to assume, on the basis of recent cautious but somewhat more cheerful statements in London and Washington, that the submarine blockade again has been beaten. It is permissible, however, to hope that the situation is something like that towards the end of 1917, when the campaign was broken and Germany started down the road to defeat.

In Edinburgh last week Prime Minister Churchill declared that August and September, if not the best, were the least bad months for Allied shipping since last January. These months, he said, saw new building that substantially outstripped losses.

At the same time, losses in American waters diminished and the submarines were forced largely to hunt in other waters.

A. V. Alexander, first lord of the British admiralty, has just given a partial report to the house of commons, revealing a most satisfactory figure on Axis submarine losses. He reported 530 undersea boats destroyed or damaged.

He did not say whether his estimate included Japanese losses, but it did not take in sinkings by the French while they were still in the war, sinkings by the Russians, and was not complete for American sinkings.

AN EXACT comparison with World war figures is impossible, but a study of them is interesting. At the start of the last war, Germany had 28 submarines, some of them unfit for deep sea duty.

In October of 1917, her submarine strength reached a peak of 140, after which it began to decline. After the armistice, 128 submarines were surrendered.

At the start of this war, Germany's strength was about 70 and Italy's 130. According to a British commentary, it was estimated in the winter of 1939 that Germany was producing two submarines per week and in the spring of 1940 it was stated that she had 400 submarines available.

It is not possible to estimate the exact number of U-boats in commission now but since the start of the war, the greatest part of Germany's maritime activity has been devoted to submarine construction. The yards building these boats have been special targets of Allied bombers and construction likely has been somewhat hampered.

PRESENT drop in the rate of Allied ship losses, whether temporary or not, has been made possible by a strong convoy system. The losses of submarines is attributable largely to destroyer and speed boat patrol, to spotting from the air and the aerial bombing.

Just as serious to Germany as the loss of the ships themselves is the loss of trained crews and commanders, especially the latter. British sources think the "wolf packs" now operating off West Africa were organized because of a shortage of expert commanders. The system is for one "master mind" to direct the operations of an entire flotilla.

Listen World!

Not 'All of a Piece'

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SO YOU'RE DISAPPOINTED, perhaps angry at the other fellow, because he hasn't lived up to your expectations. You thought for years that he was an admirable person, that he fitted all your ideals. He was steady, industrious, honest and amiable.

And now he has suddenly gone off on a tangent. Done something of which you can't possibly approve, something entirely contrary to your conception of all that's fine and decent. Worse yet, he has done something contrary to his own pattern, as you saw it. You feel that he has betrayed not only himself, but you.

Yes, that's a common reaction, whether the other fellow be man or woman. We always feel that he should behave as we thought he should behave. We have a set pattern for him to follow as we have for ourselves. And we are indignant if he doesn't follow it.

Or perhaps we ourselves do not follow the pattern we have made for ourselves? We have a certain idea of our own character. We think we have certain established virtues.

Then suddenly circumstances change. We succumb to temptations we have never known before. We seem possessed of alien devils. We run amuck. And we are horror-stricken at our own demoralization. Sometimes so horror stricken that we never resume our contact with healthy, hopeful life.

Indignation with the other fellow or contempt of ourselves . . . it's all part of the same stupid, morbid concept of human nature. For there is no more reason for contempt than there is for self-condemnation. They are both based on the ignorant idea that we are all of a piece and should live consistently.

But no one can live consistently, for none of us is made consistently. We are made of many qualities, many instincts and impulses. And when we fail to live up to the picture which others hold of us, it is not a crime against society. We have not failed our neighbor in the next apartment. We have only failed ourselves—and God. We have not gone beyond the limits of our own natures. We have simply chosen the depths instead of the heights.

Remember I told you the other day that I have been reading Somerset Maugham's "The Moon and Sixpence" again. And I'm quoting from it now. Strange how you find new meanings in words you once passed casually. There's that paragraph where the author tells Mrs. Strickland the reason for her husband's desertion, his overwhelming desire to leave the business world, to paint.

"Mrs. Strickland shrugged her shoulders impatiently. I think I was a little disappointed in her. I expected, then, people to be more of a piece than I do now, and I was distressed to find so much vindictiveness in so charming a creature. I did not realize how motely are the qualities that go to make up a human being. Now I am well aware that pettiness and grandeur, malice and charity, hatred and love, can find a place side by side in the same human heart. . . . The soul lives unstably in the body and is capable of mysterious transformations."

There is one of the deepest truths in life. No one of us is "all of a piece." We are a compound of countless hungers and impulses. We may never be aware of this. We may live our lives out in serene complacency. But always beneath that placid mask, lurks dynamite.

THINK OF THIS BEFORE YOU JUDGE THE OTHER FELLOW. THINK OF IT BEFORE YOU PIN ANY MEDALS ON YOURSELF.

Interpreting the War News

Quick Speed-Up of Air Assaults Would Wreck Nazi War Machine

—By DE WITT MACKENZIE

LONDON—There are fewer than 200 prime targets the American and British bombers need to destroy in France and Germany in order to render Hitler so vulnerable that the Allies could roll their army over him and end the war by next fall.

These targets comprise Nazidom's chief war industries and all-important rail communications and rolling stock. In short, they represent the sources of much of the fuehrer's striking power and the means of moving that power into action.

In order to achieve this destruction quickly and thereby prevent great prolongation of the war, American and British bomber forces based in this country would have to be increased heavily and immediately.

It can be said that if these two forces were trebled within the next couple of months, the Anglo-American allies could achieve enough by spring so that an invasion army could be got into operation.

Some military experts insist the present scale of bombing could be increased ten times, but that strikes me as being an ideal which could not be attained in the near future.

This concentration of air force in Britain would be met:

(1) By current production in both countries.

(2) By transferring warplanes from other activities which could spare them for this major operation in western Europe.

In this cond category might fall some of the submarine scouting now being carried on by warplanes with the expenditure of a maximum amount of labor for a minimum of results.

The ideal place to get a submarine with bombers is at the building base and not after the U-boat has started to roam the seas.

Emphasis must be placed on speed in providing bomber reinforcements. Hitler should not be allowed to use the winter months to repair the grievous damage he has suffered in the Russian campaign.

Then there's another point which affects the American force directly. We are having great success with our new, heavily-armored, heavily-armed flying fortresses with astonishingly small losses. It is both a bomber and a fighter.

But that is sure to be a passing phase. The Nazis are not able to cope with the fortress now because this giant machine is a new weapon for which they were not prepared. It won't be new for long, however. Science marches fast these days and we may expect the Boche to develop a defense.

Thus it is up to us not to give Hitler a chance to devise a means to beat the fortresses before they have taken a full toll among vital targets. Now is the appointed hour when the bombers can do the most damage with the least danger to themselves.

I have spent many hours recently with high power magnifying glasses studying enlarged airphotos of the damage done in raids on such cities as Rostock, Luebeck, Cologne, Lille, Duesseldorf and Emden.

You would not believe such devastation possible unless you saw it under the lens.

Pictures like these don't guess. I defy anyone to analyze them and not be convinced that Hitler can be largely paralyzed in his industries and transport in a comparatively short time—if the bombers are available.

* * *

YOU will hear experts say that had Hitler continued his fierce air assaults he might have paralyzed Britain. What Hitler might have done then, but did not, is something which will loom large in military history.

You can call his attack on Russia a vital error or you can say it was just bad luck.

There's a moral for the Allies there as big as Mount Everest: Don't get your air force anchored to the army unless there no longer is need of the air fleet elsewhere.

Specifically, we must iron out western Europe by bombing before we invade with land forces. Once the invasion is under way, the combined air forces will be tied to military operations on the ground and the bombing of our 200 targets would have to cease. That's why those targets must be reduced first.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

(First of Two Articles)

WASHINGTON—If a soldier in Iceland is short a razor blade to scrape his frost-bitten chin; if the boys in the Egyptian desert go thirsty for want of a waterbag; if the soldiers on Guadalcanal run out of ammunition, the man who takes the rap is Lt. Gen. Brehon B. (for Burke) Somervell.

It has been said that this is a war of machines and supplies—and every important victory thus far seems to bear that out. If that is true, then there is no more important man in the army than General Somervell.

There can be no second fronts until he is ready. There can be not even any minor offensives until he says, "It can be done."

THE reorganization of the army in March, 1942, attracted little attention. It's true there were stories about "streamlining," etc., but such things hardly make headlines. The story wasn't in the presidential order, anyway. The story was whether it would work. So far as the services of supply is concerned, it's beginning to appear that it has.

What the president did, so far as supply is concerned, was to lop off a few heads and set up one. In that one stroke, a comparatively young lieutenant general, who less than two years before had been only a lieutenant colonel, became the overall chief of ordnance, the corps of engineers, the quartermaster, signal, medical and chaplain corps, and the chemical war service.

There has been a lot of stuff written and whispered, about General Somervell's "battle" with Donald Nelson and the War Production Board. Most of it is just Washington chatter. There have been clashes between army supply forces and WPB chiefs, but it was never any struggle for power. Somervell has it.

A comparatively slim fellow serious of face, and grayer than his 50 years warrant, General Somervell has been adding good marks to his army record for more than 30 years.

Strangely, it probably can be attributed to a non-army man and the New Deal that Somervell is where he is. Six or seven years ago, Harry Hopkins knew and admired Somervell. The story goes that it was through his suggestion that the army engineer was given the brutal task of administering New York's WPA.

Until 1936, there had been no administrator there who lasted more than a few months. Somervell lasted four years.

He had his battles and his shower of criticism. He was supposed to be particularly tough on left-wingers. He was probably the only man who invented an effective method of breaking sitdown strikes. When WPA workers staged a big one, Somervell issued an order to lock up the washrooms. That ended that.

(Tomorrow: How Somervell Arrived.)

Finding a Model

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Short story for the everything-comes-to-she-who-waits department:

A few weeks ago when Harry Conover, the model man, was visiting relatives in Butte, he went into a bank to cash a check. Behind the bank window he saw a red-headed girl so pretty that Conover forgot all about his check and gave her his best sales talk about coming to New York and becoming a photo model. Naturally, she thought a city slicker was trying to pull a swifty.

Very soon, however, on the covers of Vogue, Harper's Bazaar and Look magazines, will appear the picture of a strikingly beautiful red-head. She will be Karen X. Gaylord, the little Montana bank teller who changed her mind the next day and accepted Conover's offer.

OF COURSE, if you don't want to wait for a career to come to you, you can back into one the way Gloria Gilbert has done. When she was three years old she had such a bad habit of hunching her shoulders that her doctor recommended she be sent to a dancing school to attain correct posture.

With that beginning, Gloria won cups in New England amateur dancing contests, then turned professional at the ripe old age of 15. Today she is featured at the Versailles as the only girl who can spin on her toes 500 times in three minutes. It seems she can't do anything but spin, either, for although she works out new routines and wants to do ballet, the customers seem fascinated by her old routines and demand more spins.

Gloria doesn't get dizzy doing her dance because she fixes her eyes on an object in the audience—but fast elevators make her lose her breath.

Chat With a Sailor

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I PICKED up a blue-clad sailor at the turn of the road. He thanked me quietly when I invited him in my car, and got in quickly. He was chunkily built, with white teeth and gray eyes. His uniform became him.

"How long have you been in the service?" I asked.

"I left home four months ago. My furlough will be over Monday noon, and I'm going to be there a little beforehand."

"What would they do with you if you didn't come?"

"I don't know what they'd do in my case—but I knew of a fellow who thought he'd outsmart the officers. Detectives found him 30 days after he deserted and brought him back. I saw him. He was mighty good looking—tall, black eyes, jet black hair, and heavy muscles. I guess he just couldn't pull away from the girls around home. Girls will ruin any fellow, if he ain't careful . . ."

"Well—what happened to him?"

"He was tried the next morning, and sentenced to life imprisonment or the firing squad. They gave him his choice."

"And he took—"

"The firing squad. Said it'd be over sooner. We heard the quick sharp order 'Fire,' and then the volley of shots. We saw the smoke of powder rise. That was tough—a solemn lesson to all of us . . . no, I won't be late.

"Don't get me wrong. That was a very rare case. Some fine things happen, too. Many of the boys come from good homes—like mine was. In our barracks there's a fellow in the bunk above me who lets me hear him pray! He prays so personal and sincere like, that I enjoy listenin' to him. He reads lots of good books and loans them to me. He writes home every other day and the letters he gets are big, fat, cheerful ones. I've seen him help many a homesick chap. He says the way to keep from gettin' homesick yourself, is to find somebody worse off'n you are, and make 'em laugh.

"He's tough, though! He can wrestle the best man in our barracks—and he's a swell shot! Sometimes him and me take turns quoting poetry and the Bible . . . I had to learn it in school—now I'm glad I did. I can always take it with me."

When I left him, at the station in the village, we together said "Creation" and the 23rd Psalm. "I can be a better sailor with that kind of a goodbye," he remarked. "I'm glad I met up with you. Keep 'em rolling!"

I like to remember his strong, firm handclasp.

IRISH HORSE TRADERS ASSERT WE CAN RIDE MULES TO WORK

(By United Press)

BELLAIRE—A hundred horse-trading sons o' Erin are here today, but they may be somewhere else tomorrow.

America's last roaming clan is busy since the nation's ration boards decided the automobile was not here to stay.

These descendants of Irish horse traders who migrated to the United States before Bull Run never have agreed that the automobile is as good as a strong mule

"Jest look at what you can do with a mule," said Pat O'Day.

"You can hitch 'im up and tell 'im what you want done, and be'gorra, he'll do it. But you shure can't do that with one of these danged cars. They're that stubborn, they'll act up every time," he said.

The horse traders show how they feel about the automobile by traveling in 25-year-old jalopies—and then only when a mule can't carry the load

They are not at all worried about the tire and gasoline shortage.

"This here tire situation is all the bunk," said Mike McTigue. "Why, all the government's got to do is let us ship in about ten million sturdy mules and let the fellers hitch up and ride straddle to work," he said.

The whole clan is here now—the O'Neils, Finnegans, McGinnesses, O'Rileys, O'Roarks and Milligans—camped in a tent city.

They are not gypsies. They are horse traders.

They buy their stock in the fall at the big horse and mule auctions in Atlanta, Ga. Then they split up into small groups and start on their circuits over the nation.

They have made their living by smart horse-and-mule-trading for nearly a century. Every one of the 4,000 of them in this country can tell a good mule from a slacker with one squint.

The traders are one great family, all related by blood or marriage. What one of them has, the rest of them share. Not one ever has been on relief, they boast.

The original families came over shortly before the Civil war from Ireland, where they had been horse traders, following the country fairs. They settled in Washington for a while at first, but city life irked them and they took the highroad south in covered wagons led by a salty Irishman named Pat O'Hara.

Atlanta looked like a good place to trade horses, so they made it the center of their wanderings. Other groups broke off and one made its headquarters in Nashville. Another went to Fort Worth.

The traders live in roomy tents divided into two compartments, carpeted with fresh yellow straw. They sleep in four-poster mahogany beds with the finest of mattresses.

They do not eat on tin plates, but on fragile Haviland china.

The Irish horse trader likes color in his tent. Brilliant colors are splashed everywhere—a blood-red chair cover, emerald-green cushions, and bedspreads of all hues.

On the center pole in every tent there is a crucifix.

When a trader dies, his body is shipped to Peachtree street in Atlanta, where it is held until the traders gather in April. Then they have a mass funeral.

The last week of April is more than a week of mourning. It is also seven days of marriages and engagements, business deals, reunion and song.

The first of May the horse traders from Erin separate again to roam over the country, trading horses and mules.

Fendrick Fears Marion Team In Madison Game Tonight

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

Old Lady Luck wrinkled her weather-beaten pan into a mawkish moue and cast her evil eye about with a gleam that boded no good for someone.

Now the old lady has two kinds of luck as everyone knows, and she has an evil eye which she wears on the left side and a kindly eye on the right side, but the old lady is left handed so the evil eye and the bad luck are in the ascendancy.

On this particular occasion the old lady was suffering from a hangover of too much Welsh rarebit and refreshment, and the evil eye was working overtime as she treated herself to a horrible chortle and pondered: "Now whom shall I pull a very dirty trick on today?"

* * *

Now all ill tide the day when the old lady's evil eye fell on Shelby high school.

"Now there," rasped the old lady, "are a bunch of kids who have had just about all the bad luck in the book. But they ain't seen nothin' yet. I am about to fix them up with the ne plus ultra in foul fortune.

"And first I will talk them into believing that Mansfield is too tough for them to play football with any more and I will convince them that they should sever gridiron relations with their neighbors from the county seat."

* * *

And that is just what happened, but the old lady hadn't even started to work yet.

A sly old dame is Lady Luck when her evil eye is working overtime under the inspiration of a gastronomic hangover.

"Now," says she, "I will lure these Shelbys into booking a game in place of that Mansfield encounter, a game that on the surface will look not so tough for Shelby or anyone else, but that will teach them forevermore to look under the surface before they leap on thin ice."

* * *

And that is what she did. She waved the name of Canton Lincoln in front of the Whippets. And the Shelbys, with their nice, clean, innocent faces, walked right into the trap.

So what was this Canton Lincoln? A new school in football, starting its third gridiron campaign, and brash enough to take on Canton McKinley for the first time.

This shouldn't be so tough, the Shelbys must have thought, not nearly so tough as Mansfield. So they quit playing Mansfield in a year when the Tygers are down, and took on Canton Lincoln.

* * *

So Lincoln just ran wild over Coshocton and held a great Canton McKinley to a scoreless tie, and has two of the outstanding stars of the Canton district in Fullback Jack Mitchell and Blocking Back Paul Konovsky. They'll be seen in Shelby Saturday afternoon. (The old lady's bones are rattling, she's laughing that hard.)

* * *

Dear RVH: Noted your message in the column yesterday, and have made arrangements to keep your family posted, via telephone, as to your whereabouts. Your manager, thoughtful as always, suggested that if you got hungry she'd whip up a couple sandwiches (no coffee, it's scarce) that you could pick up on the fly if you have time to dash by the house. After considerable debate, we decided that she'd be able to remember what you look like from the picture at the top of the column and that it might not be necessary for you to be introduced when you finally get home.

—The Boss.

NAMED CAPTAIN

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—(INS)—John Andretich, hard-driving halfback, had the responsibility today for piloting Purdue against undefeated Wisconsin in Saturday's homecoming battle. Andretich also is an effective passer, having completed seven of 12 attempts. The Boilermakers continued to work on fundamentals in preparation for the game.

Massillon Aims for Big Score

Wanted To Cover Field For Dry Footing Friday.

THERE were indications yesterday that Massillon's Mighty Tigers intend and expect to run up a big score on Mansfield's green but scrappy Tygers tomorrow night at Stadium field in retaliation for the 6-6 tie by which Mansfield marred the Massillon record in 1941.

Chief hint of the Massillon plan came in a telephone call from Tigerland to athletic officials at Mansfield high school.

"We will gladly bring our tarpaulin over tonight to cover your football field so we can have dry footing Friday night," was the Massillon message.

Massillon wanted good solid turf for its speedsters to gallop on in this revenge battle, but Coach Paul Snyder informed them: "We've got a couple of junior high games scheduled and can't very well keep removing the canvass."

Well, John Simpson did play Galion yesterday afternoon, and during a rainstorm that soon had the gridiron in a sea of mud down the middle, but Snyder was also playing dumb like a fox. He wouldn't mind having the going slowed down for Massillon, even though it slows down his own offense.

Massillon's anxiety about the condition of the field may also indicate that Coach Elwood Kammer has no intention of using his second team a large part of the game as has been reported in Canton papers.

Massillon still remembers Coach Snyder's famous words when he visited the Tiger dressing room after last year's tie game: "This is the first time I ever saw a Massillon team tuckered out."

That, so they believe in Massillon, was adding insult to injury, and what hurt even more was the fact that it was true.

Massillon reported yesterday that nearly all of its 1,500 tickets for the game were gone, and George Sherman, ticket director of Mansfield high school reported the same condition here. Only 300 tickets remained unsold last night. These are expected to go today, but there will be nearly a thousand standing room tickets on sale at game time.

Mansfield high school's pep parade scheduled tomorrow evening from downtown to the stadium was augmented yesterday by the 25-piece army band and mobile caravan which will be in the city Friday and Saturday.

* * *

Principal Glenn Rohleder offered the visiting army contingent free admission to the game, an offer which was speedily accepted in behalf of the army band which wants to see Massillon's famous band perform.

James Starts For Buckeyes

Crestline's Bob Frye Is Placed on Injured List.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Coach Paul Brown said today that Tommy James would replace Paul Sarringhaus at left halfback in Ohio State's starting lineup against Northwestern at Evanston, Ill., Saturday as the result of an ankle injury to the "Hamilton Hurricane."

"The ankle is not a bad one and I do not mean to convey that impression that Paul will be out for the season, but he definitely will not play Saturday," Brown stated.

The Buckeye mentor told last night's meeting of the "Downtown Coaches," an organization of Columbus businessmen and Ohio State football enthusiasts, not to rely too heavily on the No. 1 national ranking given the Bucks by grid coaches for the second straight week.

"I hope the guys who have made us No. 1 have a good bet on us when we lose," Brown grinned.

Brown disclosed that Dante Lavelli, injured in the Southern California game, fell down a flight of steps and will be out for at least another two weeks. Bill Sedor will continue at left end during Lavelli's absence, Brown said.

Another backfielder, Bob Frye, is injured and may not be ready Saturday, Brown said. Frye, a left-handed passer and speedy ball carrier, was injured in the Purdue game.

RIO DE JANEIRO—(INS)—Roscoe Toles, Negro heavyweight of Detroit, today held a decision over Arturo Godoy of Chile. Toles got the referee's nod in a 12-round fight last night at the Fluminense stadium.

LORAIN GETS TEST

Student managers in back row are: Perez, Austin, Bond and Schumar.

Tigers Rank No. 1 on Grid

Massillon Claims Best Team, Crowd and Band.

By FRITZ HOWELL

MASSILLON—(AP)—If the terrific Tigers of Massillon high school aren't the nation's No. 1 scholastic football team—both on the field and at the gate—the 26,000 fans in this steel-making town would like to know who has 'em beat.

* * *

Massillon's Tigers knocked over undefeated Steubenville 33 to 13, as 18,100 fans looked on last week for their 48th straight contest without a defeat; 72nd victory against a single loss and two ties in the last eight campaigns, and for a five-game attendance total of 74,000, with a four-game at-home average of 16,500.

That attendance average is better than 95 per cent of the nation's colleges can boast for their early-season home games.

At least, it's a better mark than Army, Cornell, Fordham, Navy, Princeton, Harvard, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, Alabama, Georgia, Georgia Tech, North Carolina, Tennessee, Vanderbilt, Denver, Utah and the entire Southwest conference have chalked up this season.

On top of that, Massillon is only 1,250 persons per game behind L. S. U., and 250 back of Stanford.

Games with Mansfield, Warren, Toledo Waite, Erie (Pa.) East, and Canton McKinley are still in the offing, and the Tigers hope to reach last year's 10-game attendance of 151,500.

Two years ago, in Coach Paul Brown's last season before he moved to Ohio State to set a new attendance mark of 486,648 for eight games, the Massillons drew 187,000 fans. That was a record for the Tigers.

After Brown left Massillon, with a record of 58 victories, one tie and a 6-0 loss to New Castle, Pa., for his last 60 games, Bud Houghton, one of Brown's assistants, took over and led the Tigers to nine wins and a deadlock.

Then Houghton went to the navy, and now Elwood Kammer, graduate of the junior high ranks, is at the helm. The Tigers haven't shown any indication of slowing up, having won over Cleveland Cathedral Latin, Weirton, W. Va., Lincoln, Neb. (state champion), Alliance and Steubenville by impressive scores.

And the Tigers also lay claim to possessing the best scholastic band in the land.

Speedy Simpson Bulldogs Run Wild Over Galion Team

Coach Bob DeHaven's speedy John Simpson Bulldogs ran wild over Galion Junior high gridders for a 32-7 victory yesterday afternoon at Stadium Field in a game which saw the entire last half played in a downpour.

Because of the sudden change in weather, the last two quarters were cut to five minutes each, which makes the Simpson score the more remarkable. They played just 26 minutes, two minutes more than one-half of a high school game, and piled up 32 points.

* * *

At that rate, and against a rapidly tiring Galion team, they might have run the score to nearly a hundred points over the full 48-minute high school route.

Once more Simpson came up with an exhibition of hard, sure blocking and swift ball toting against a Galion team which only last week defeated Johnny Burnison's Junior high eleven from Massillon, a team that had mopped everything in the Massillon district.

Galion coaches, high in their praise of the speedy Simpson ball carriers, declared their own boys were too young to stand the fast pace set by the Bulldogs. But the Simpson kids are not old men.

Outstanding star for the Bulldogs yesterday was Ollie Cline, an eighth grader who is only 13 years old.

Ollie took a pass from Thomas for the first touchdown early in the game to travel 16 yards for the score, and wind up a 65 yard march from the opening kickoff.

A few minutes later Cline got loose on an end run for 70 yards and a touchdown with not a Galion player within hailing distance after he passed midfield.

* * *

In the second quarter he tossed a perfect touchdown pass to Ernie Washington on a play that covered 32 yards. The pass, in the left flat, was just beyond the Galion secondary, and right in Washington's arms, as pretty a pass as you'll see in any game.

Fullback Thomas took over the scoring chores in the third quarter with a 30-yard jaunt around end, and added the point with a plunge.

And back came Cline in the final stanza with a 12-yard sprint around end for his third touchdown. Thomas once more added the point on a line buck.

Galion scored in the third period when Ramsey got loose on an off-tackle dash for 40 yards and a touchdown, and Pugh circled end for the point.

Halas Applies for Naval Commission

CHICAGO—(AP)—George Halas of the world champion Chicago Bears soon may be the sixth National Football league club owner-coach to join Uncle Sam's armed forces.

Halas, who is 45, has applied for a naval commission and may make his coaching farewell when his Bears seek their 18th consecutive league conquest at the expense of the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Bears' boss, who served in the navy in the last war, has been associated with college and professional football for more than 25 years. He played football at the University of Illinois and during the last war was on the Great Lakes team.

Woman Pilots High Gridders

The Team Is Corning, But It Wins Games.

CORNING, Calif—(AP)—Herbert Comstock, coach of the high school football team, joined the armed forces, and no one could be found to replace him.

"I'll do it," volunteered Mrs. Pauline Foster, girls' physical education instructor.

* * *

She did, too. In the first game Corning beat Orland, 14-0. Everyone but Al Nichelini, the Orland coach, was pleased. "I'll never live it down that a woman beat me," he moaned. "The sooner the army calls me, the better."

MUMAW DROPPED

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Lew Mumaw, traveling secretary of the Cleveland Indians, has been dropped from the pay roll in a retrenchment, said President Alva Bradley. The discharge followed reports of friction between Mumaw and Business Manager Frank Kohlbecker.

Record Shows Saints Are Coming Ball Club

Defeated Fostoria St. Wendelin In Last Start By 53 to 2 Count

MADISON RAMS and Coach Al Fendrick have plenty o respect for Marion St. Mary's, their opponents tonigh under the lights on Madison gridiron.

"If we can get past this game tonight, I won't worr so much about the rest of the season," Fendrick declared today.

"This Marion team is coming along fast. Just look at the record They lost their first game to Tiffin Calvert 20 to 0, and then second to Crestline 13-0. Then they defeated Forest 32-0 an walked all over Fostoria St Wendelin, 53 to 2.

"And," Fendrick continued "we were lucky last year to t Fostoria St. Wendelin 6-6."

So the Rams, who defeated St. Mary's last year 12 to 0 after losing the year before 6-0, suddenly find themselves in another tough ball game.

* * *

Fortunately the Rams are back at full strength, and are even in better position now than they have been at any time this season through the development o other players while injured members of the team were out of action.

They'll be meeting a team averaging 165 pounds, with plenty of weight on the left side of the line where the tackle weighs 175, the guard 170 and center 210.

Fendrick indicated he would start Gross at right half again tonight, holding speedster Bob Anthony out for climax assignments. Otherwise the regular Ram lineup will start.

Officials will be Coach Paul Snyder of Mansfield high school, and Red Longley of Ashland. And the game is scheduled at 8:15.

DEPEND ON LINE

MINNEAPOLIS—(INS)—A battle of linemen on Saturday was anticipated today as the Minnesota Gophers placed their hopes on their forward wall to score an upset victory over Michigan in the annual little brown jug battle. Records show that the Wolverines have scored only once through a line coached by George Hauser, who also was line coach under Bernie Bierman.

Shutout and Alsab Beaten

Dark Discovery Steals Race From Big Shots.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The race for three-year-old honors remained wide open today after Alsab and Shut Out, the turf's two leading contenders, lost to Dark Discovery in the $15,000 Gallant Fox handicap at Jamaica.

The long-shot chestnut filly, Dark Discovery, winner of but two races in 27 starts during the past two years, registered one of the major upsets of the season yesterday when she finished one length in front of little 'Sab and seven and one-half lengths in front of fourth place Shut Out, who followed the show horse, Marriage, under the wire.

Dark Discovery, ridden by Walter Mehrtens, carried 100 pounds against 124 for Shut Out and Alsab. She covered the mile and five-eighths in good time — two minutes, 44 1-5 seconds—to earn $11,300 for Owner John A. Bell, jr. The filly returned $37.80, $8.90 and $4.10. Alsab paid his backers $2.90 and $2.40 while R. A. Coward's Marriage yielded $3.90 for show.

Alsab, the $700 bargain buy, evened matters with Shut Out by beating the Kentucky Derby winner to the finish line. Shut Out defeated little 'Sab by taking the Derby and the Belmont stakes while Alsab had scored a victory over Shut Out on the Preakness.

Dark Discovery held second place behind Marriage for a half mile before taking command and opening a five-length lead. At the far turn Shut Out made his bid and for a time it seemed that Mrs. Payne Whitney's Derby winner, with Buddy Haas up, would come on with his accustomed stretch kick.

But when the small field of six turned for home it was Alsab, with Carroll Bierman handling the reins, who made the challenge. However, Bierman had waited too long and Dark Discovery's lead was too great to overcome.

CORRECT DISPLAY OF AMERICAN FLAG EXPLAINED IN RULE LIST

Of wide interest are the rules and customs, in codified form, received recently by Mansfield patriotic organizations pertaining to the use of the American flag. Such regulations may be repealed or modified only by order of the president.

It is the universal custom to display the flag only from sunrise to sunset on building and on stationary flagstaffs in the open. However, there are a few special occasions when the flag may be displayed at night.

The flag should be hoisted briskly and lowered ceremoniously. It should not be displayed when the weather is inclement, but on all days when the weather is favorable, especially legal holidays.

The flag should be displayed daily, weather permitting, on or near the administration building of every public institution and school and at polling places on election day.

When carried in a procession with another flag or flags, the American flag should either be on the marching right (the flag's own right) or in front of the center of that line. Except in rare cases it should be displayed only from a staff.

No disrespect should be shown to the flag. It should not be dipped to any person or thing as is sometimes the custom of regimental colors or flags of organizations.

During the ceremony of hoisting and lowering the flag, or when it is passing in a parade or review, all persons present should face the flag, stand at attention and salute. Those present in uniform should render the right hand salute. Men not in uniform should remove the hat with the right hand holding it at the left shoulder, the hand being over the heart. Men without hats merely stand at attention. Women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart. The salute to the flag in a moving column should be rendered at the moment the flag passes.

When the national anthem is played and the flag is not displayed, all present should stand and face toward the music. Those in uniform should salute at the first note of the anthem, retaining this position until the last note. All others should stand at attention, men removing their hats. When the flag is displayed, the salute to the flag should be given.

The pledge of allegiance to the flag is: "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

The pledge should be given standing with the right hand over the heart; extending the right hand, palm upward, toward the flag at the words "to the flag" and holding this position until the end when the hand drops to the side. However, civilians will always show full respect to the flag when the pledge is given by merely standing at attention, men removing their hats. Persons in uniform shall render the military salute.

Michigan Bets Shirt

Wolves Ready To End Gopher Domination.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—Michigan's mighty Wolverines board a train for Viking-land tonight, leaving behind a football-crazy campus ready to bet the monthly allowances that Saturday will see the end of Minnesota's long reign of terror.

The Wolverines are high-spirited, superbly conditioned, and genuinely confident. Michigan fought and won her last triumph over Minnesota in 1932, and a Harry Newman field goal spelled the margin in a 3-0 Wolverine victory.

Nine times since then have these two bitter Big Ten rivals met The 1933 game was a tie, the rest all Minnesota victories.

While Crisler's early practice maneuvers are bent toward stopping the Minnesota running attack, the contrary Gophers are trying their best to break up this strategy. Minnesota reports said yesterday that for the third straight day, the defending champions concentrated on forward passing.

Here are practice highlights from other midwest camps:

Lynn Waldorf indicated three Northwestern sophomores—Center George App and Backs Nick Vodick and Lynn McNutt—would start against Ohio State . . . Halfback John Andretich, who captained Purdue in its upset win over Northwestern, will be head man against unbeaten Wisconsin. . . . The Badgers smothered Purdue plays in a workout against the freshmen. . . . Iowa worked on defense against Indiana's running and passing games while Indiana concentrated more on offense. . . . Illinois spent its time on defense against Notre Dame's passing as the Irish were polishing their overhead attack. . . . Great Lakes, which will meet Michigan State Saturday, scrimmaged for the third straight day.

UNANSWERED QUESTION

A lot of ball clubs may need rebuilding before next spring, but don't look for much trading at the December meetings. . . . Somebody asked Jim Gallagher, the Cubs' general manager, about trade prospect and he summed up the whole situation this way: "Who is going to sell a ball player not eligible for the draft? And who is going to buy one that is?"

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

C. M. Gibbs, Baltimore Sun: "Perhaps the war in changing everything. For instance, there was Coach Frank Leahy, lying in a hospital And his Notre Dame team shakes itself clear of the doldrums and stages the biggest upset of the season by defeating the Seahawks And no one said anything about the Irish winning for good old Leahy, neither before nor after the game."

Brooklyn Dodgers Still Run by Fans

NEW YORK—(AP)—If any followers of the Brooklyn Dodgers are worried about who will be the new president and general manager, it may comfort them to know that the fans still are going to run the show

This was the promise made today by James A Mulvey, vice president and member of the board of directors, who has been most active in the search for a successor to Lieut. Col. Larry MacPhail.

"There are just two ways to operate a ball club," he asserted. "One is to run it for personal profit. The other is to give the fans what they want, regardless of what return the management receives.

"Our club has been run for the fans ever since MacPhail took over the job. That is the way it will continue to be."

Mulvey said the other directors supported this view wholeheartedly

BARONS PRACTICE ON HOME ICE AT ARENA

CLEVELAND—(INS)—The Cleveland Barons opened their first local practice of the season today with three newcomers added to the line-up which at present consists of only 13 players because of some passport trouble six rookies are experiencing in Canada.

Pete Horeck, 19-year-old left winger who played with Atlantic City in the eastern amateur circuit last season, is one of the new Baron skaters; Harry Dick, a 200-pounder noted for body checking ability who will start in a defense position Saturday in an exhibition game against the Detroit Red Wings is another, and Tommy Burlington, center, is the third.

Detroit Rumors Manager Changes

DETROIT—(INS)—Del Baker will be relieved of his duties as manager of the Detroit Tigers and be replaced by Steve O'Neill, a Tiger coach, and then be signed as manager of the Cincinnati Reds, the Detroit Times said today.

The Times said that "This is the word . . . today from an unquestioned baseball source."

"It is understood that Bill McKechnie, present manager of the Reds, has informed his bosses he plans to retire. Baker is expected to be announced as the new manager soon."

Baker's release, the Times said, will be announced upon the return from Texas of Jack Zeller, general manager of the Tigers.

O'Neill piloted Cleveland in 1936 and 1937 and managed Buffalo in 1938, 1939 and 1940. Baker has been manager of the Tigers since 1936. In 1940, his Tiger team won the American league pennant and then was defeated in the world series by Cincinnati.

Frankie Finds Aerial Secret

Sinkwich Piles Up Most of His Yards on Passes.

By ARNOLD DERLITZKI

CHICAGO—(AP)—Georgia's Frankie Sinkwich, the nation's No. 1 ball carrier in 1941, is rolling up most of his yardage by passing this year and it's making him football's foremost offensive threat.

Figures of the American football statistical bureau today disclosed that in five games Sinkwich has accounted for 308 yards by rushing and 499 by passing. The total of 807 yards is 33 more than Bud Schwenk of Washington university of St. Louis had last year in the same number of games and Schwenk went on to a modern record of 1,928 yards.

If Sinkwich—from Youngstown, O.—exceeds Schwenk's mark, his new found passing success will be largely responsible. In 1941 he ended far down the list in this department, but currently he is running fourth. The reverse has occurred in rushing where last year's No. 1 terror on the ground now ranks no better than 16th. But his combined talents have shoved him to the front in total offense, where he finished third last year.

Paul Governali, Columbia's passing wizard, is right behind the Georgia ball of fire in total offense although he has played in only four games. Virtually all of Governali's 790 yards, however, have come via the air. He has collected only 81 on the ground. Bob Ruman of Arizona was in third place with 773 yards, followed by Dick Fisher of Iowa Pre-Flight with 697, Bob Steuber of Missouri, 669, Otto Graham of Northwestern, 648 and Steve Filipowicz, Fordham, 589.

Governali also is running second in individual passing, having 41 completions to 54 by Ray Evans of Kansas. However, the Columbia star has the better percentage of completions, .547, and far outranks all rivals in total yards gained with 709. The best percentage is held by Dene Dobbs of Tulsa who has completed 18 of 22 passes for 228 yards and an .818 mark.

WOLVES HAVE HOPES

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(INS)—Hopes were high on the Michigan campus today that the Wolverines would come home from Minneapolis with their 19th victory over Minnesota in their 33rd meeting. Since their rivalry began in 1892 Michigan has won 18, to 12 for the Gophers, two games ending in ties.
